CRITICAL OF U. S. AID

Some Of Our Allies Have Seen Very Little Of Our Actual Arms, Is Declaration

CHUNGKING, Oct. 7 — An "all-out offensive everywhere by all United Nations" was urged today by Wendell Willkie in a statement which he emphasized was "my own personal opinion."

The American political leader, on a mission sponsored by President Roosevelt, declared that his observations in the battlefields of the middle East, Russia and China convinced him that defense will not win the war.

"In my personal opinion," said the Willkie statement, "now is the time for an all-out armed offensive everywhere by all United Nations."

"We are ready to deliver some knockout punches, if I can believe what I have seen with my own eyes. We can start punches at home, but they have got to connect if they are going to hurt the enemy."

Critical of Aid
Willkie was critical of the volume of American aid to the allied nations fighting Hitler and Hirohito. He was apparently also undaunted by the statement of President Roosevelt that he had not read Willkie's statement in Russia urging an immediate second front and did not consider it worth reading.

"In the United States we talk a lot about our production figures," declared the irrepressible Hoosier, "but some of our allies have seen very little of our actual arms. It is only natural that they wonder where our boasted production has gone."

"It is also only natural that some of them wonder how much

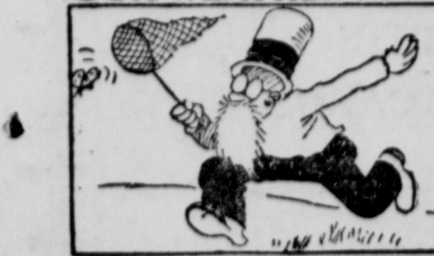

BRITISH FLYER MUST DIE FOR SLAYING GIRL

ST. ANDREWS, N. B., Oct. 7 — Royal Air Force Sgt. Tom R. Hutchings, 21, of Peterborough, England, today was sentenced to death by hanging by Justice C. D. Richards.

The sentence was imposed a few minutes after a jury found the young pilot guilty of slaying pretty Bernice Connors, 19, whom he had taken to a dance on dead man's harbor road, Blacksharbor, New Brunswick, last June 5.

After ravishing the girl, it is charged, Hutchings beat her to death and concealed her nude body in a shallow, moss-covered grave.

Worker Mobilization Becomes Hottest Single Issue on Home Front

Labor Spokesmen Insist On More Adequate Workmen's Compensation, Job Insurance, Health Programs As Prelude To Action

WASHINGTON, Oct. 7—Labor spokesmen today insisted on more adequate workmen's compensation, unemployment insurance and health programs as a prelude to action on compulsory manpower legislation.

Mobilization of the nation's workers for war by government edict loomed as the "hottest" single home-front issue in the capital now that the anti-inflation program has started rolling.

Informed quarters indicated that the manpower problem is so "hot" that no action is possible for several weeks—not until after the November elections.

A beginning has been made, however, with the senate military affairs committee scheduled to hold hearings shortly on a national service act and war manpower commission chairman Paul V. McNutt having prepared his version of such legislation.

McNutt Stymied

McNutt's proposal is stymied in the hands of the manpower commission's management-labor policy committee with labor strongly opposed to any action at this time.

"I feel that we haven't scratched the surface of voluntary cooperation in dealing with the manpower problem," one labor member said. "People who are compelled to work are not free. The less compulsion, the more work American workers will do."

The labor leader asserted that success of voluntary efforts to transfer workers from non-essential industries into war jobs depends greatly on the institution of adequate workmen's compensation, unemployment insurance and health programs in all states.

Labor Views Voiced

"You can't expect workers to leave a state where the unemployment insurance provision may be $18 a week and transfer to a job where the benefits are only $6 a week," he explained. "Similarly the problem of the inadequacy of many state compensation and health programs must be solved."

The draft of compulsory manpower legislation prepared at McNutt's request by Dr. Bernard Gavitt, former head of the Indiana university law school and general counsel for the manpower commission, was submitted to the 14-

GESTAPO STARTS NEW CAMPAIGN OF EXECUTIONS

LONDON, Oct. 7—Germany's ruthless Gestapo embarked today on a new campaign of executions and terrorism, in a frenzied effort to combat a rising wave of sabotage threatening the Nazi war effort through much of occupied Europe.

From France, Norway, Denmark, Austria and Yugoslavia came news reports of anti-Nazi disorders, and the subsequent crackdown by Heinrich Himmler's paid assassins.

In Nazi-occupied Paris, 20 persons were wounded, two of them later dying, when a bomb exploded last night in a theatre.

In Norway, where national patriotism flamed to a new high, German occupation authorities and the puppet, pro-Nazi government put into effect a series of repressive measures designed to quell sabotage directed at Hitler's supply lines.

Ten prominent Norse leaders were ordered executed by Reich Commissar Josef Terboven less than 24 hours after a long strip of territory along Norway's west coast had been placed in a state of emergency. Terboven also extended the state of emergency to Roros, south of Trondheim, and all persons arriving in the district were ordered to report to police at once.

Win Soviet Awards

Decorations for extraordinary services in battle against invading Nazi forces have been awarded to Vassili Kuzarin, a Soviet army fighter, and his sister Alexandre, a nurse. Both took part in numerous Russian battles before they received their awards.

STANDLEY TO MAKE REPORT ON RUSS ATTITUDE

MOSCOW, Oct. 7 — United States Ambassador Admiral William H. Standley completed arrangements today for an early departure to the United States to report to President Roosevelt on Russia's attitude regarding the war aid she is receiving from the allied nations.

He held a final conference last night with Premier Josef Stalin who declared in a statement Sunday that allied aid to Russia had been "little effective" compared with Russia's effort, and called on the allies to "fulfill their obligations fully and on time."

In a statement announcing his plans to return to the United States Admiral Standley said he expected his visit would speed plans to co-ordinate American and Soviet war efforts.

"There is a general feeling here that United States aid to Russia is not meeting expectations," the ambassador said. "They feel that we are not doing all that we can. I want to help straighten out these things."

"In a few days I am going to America to report to President Roosevelt and the Secretary of State regarding ways and means of coordinating to the utmost the war effort of the United States and the Soviet Union."

Munitions To Be Shipped In Convoys Escorted By Battle Ships Of Two Nations

WASHINGTON, Oct. 7—Meeting to some extent Soviet Premier Josef Stalin's appeal for more allied assistance, the United States and Great Britain today are putting into effect a joint plan to deliver several hundreds of thousands of tons of war supplies to Russia each month during the coming winter.

Implicit in the plan is the firm conviction of the American and British governments that Russia will hold out.

Most of the supplies will be shipped to Russia in convoys escorted by powerful combined units of the American and British fleets. Some of the supplies will be shipped across the Pacific to Vladivostok in Soviet vessels which still are permitted to traverse the sea of Japan under the Russo-Japanese neutrality pact.

This new promise of help to Russia came swiftly in the wake of Stalin's appeal for more effective Anglo-American assistance. While the agreement does not have anything to do with the opening of a second front in western Europe it does assure the Soviet government that the United States and Britain intend to fulfill their promises to send material aid to Russia.

In this respect, the new agreement tends to implement the mutual aid pact which the United States signed with Russia on (Continued on Page Two)

MINERS GIRD FOR SHOWDOWN FIGHT WITH CIO

CINCINNATI, Oct. 7 — The 37th convention of John L. Lewis' United Mine Workers union girded itself for a showdown fight with the CIO today as one resolution was drafted which would authorize Lewis to start a court suit to collect $1,665,000 the UMW once loaned the CIO.

The resolution, it was learned, also may instruct Lewis to sever all connections with the CIO if it fails to pay.

Meanwhile, as the convention of 2,800 UMW delegates entered its second day, a small but determined group rallied around Pat Fagan, of Pittsburgh, president of District 50 of UMW, in defense of CIO President Phil Murray.

Fagan, always a close friend and staunch supporter of Murray, refused to say whether the group would conduct an open fight on the convention floor on behalf of the CIO president, who was ousted from his job as UMW vice-president last May.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 7—Senators advocating a sales tax today abandoned thought of seeking to include the levy in the $8,000,000,000 tax bill unless the Senate revolts against the finance committee and throws out the five percent "victory" gross income levy.

"I made my fight in committee and lost and I won't offer a sales tax amendment," said Sen. Guffey (D) Pa. "I think the bill will pass pretty much as it is."

Neither Sens. Vandenberg (R) Mich. nor Byrd (D) Va., who prefer the sales tax to the gross income levy, planned to make a fight on the issue.

A sales tax is bound to come in the new $6,000,000,000 tax bill which Secretary of the Treasury Morgenthau seeks," said Byrd. "The bill we have now pretty much skims off the cream, and there isn't any choice left."

Meantime the Senate headed into a battle over four outstanding issues in the tax bill. They are:

1. Proposal of Sen. La Follette (F) Wis., to raise the normal-surtax on corporations to 50 percent along the lines of treasury demands.
2. Demands for full taxation of interest on state and municipal bonds. The bill provides for taxation of future issues.
3. Attempts to revise or eliminate the "victory" tax.
4. Administration's fight against "freezing" the Social Security pay-roll tax.

SIXTH BRIDE TO WALK TO ALTAR WITH MANVILLE

NEW YORK, Oct. 7—Well, folks, it's about to happen again. Tommy Manville, the heir to the asbestos fortune, is going to take his sixth bride on Sunday—that is if he or his affianced don't have a change of heart meanwhile.

Tommy, sounding as excited as though he were about to venture into matrimony for the first time, telephoned word of the forthcoming nuptials to International News Service today.

The bride-to-be, according to Tommy, is Wilhelmina "Billy" Boze, a 20-year-old beauty whose father is in the lumber business in Andrews, S. C. She's a showgirl as were many of Tommy's ex-wives.

Tommy and "Billy" are going to New Rochelle today to obtain their marriage license and on Sunday will be married by that city's mayor, Stanley Church, in the fashionable Manville home.

City Youth Missing at Draft Call

Daniel Grubb, Of Jehovah's Witness Sect, Absent As Soldier Group Leaves

Daniel Grubb, 23-year-old South Washington street youth who claims he is a member of the Jehovah's Witness sect which is opposed to war, failed to report Wednesday at 9 a. m. to start his journey to Fort Benjamin Harrison, Ind., and the beginning of training for service in Uncle Sam's Army.

Pickaway county draft board declared that Grubb "had failed to report and no reason was given to the board." The youth has already been sworn into the Army, having been sent to Columbus two weeks ago for physical examination and induction. He returned home for a two week furlough at that time.

Any steps to be taken in his case will be by Army officials since Grubb passed out of the local board's jurisdiction when he was accepted by the Army medical team two weeks ago.

Although he had not informed the county board that he would not report for service, information had reached the board that he would refuse to appear. Neither has he claimed that he is a conscientious objector, according to the Selective Service board's records, but it is understood that because of his religious beliefs he will refuse to fight.

All other members of the group scheduled to leave for Fort Benjamin Harrison left at the appointed time by bus, except Donald Fetherolf of Columbus, who called the local board at 9 o'clock Wednesday saying that he would meet the contingent at Union depot in Columbus. The fact that Fetherolf failed to report here as ordered was also reported to the commanding officer at Fort Benjamin Harrison. All men returning after furloughs must report to the local board as ordered.

Men who started their return trip Wednesday in addition to Fetherolf were Donald A. Layton, Harry E. Richey, Wiley Campbell, Merle Ankrom, Willard Myers, Goebel C. Ward, Charles E. Kreisel, Harry Lovett, Manley Carothers, Harry Conway, Donald P. Goeller, Everett Beers, Lloyd R. Martin, Zachary Denner, Clayton Taylor, William Ammer, James T. McCain and Orpheus Chaffin of Circleville; Chester Gloyd, Emerson H. Cline, John Hoover and Willard Foreman, Ashville; Orval Yinger, Mount Sterling; Robert Rockwell and Francis E. Funk, New Holland; Keith Brown, Laurelville; Merle L. Cathell and John M. Kearns of Columbus; Ernest W. Graves, Commercial Point. Foreman was named acting corporal of the group.

Thirty-nine additional men who are completing their furloughs will leave Thursday, reporting at 3:45 p. m. at the courthouse. They will travel by Norfolk and Western railroad to Fort Hayes for assignment.

INFANT FOUND SWIMMING IN 11 FOOT POOL

PRAIRIE VIEW, Ill., Oct. 7—Mr. and Mrs. Leighton Wilkie were not sure today whether their 18-month-old son, Michael, is training to be a junior commando or a champion swimmer.

At any rate, Mrs. Wilkie, said she looked out the front window of their home near Prairie View and was astounded to see the youngster puffing and paddling in the swimming pool—which is 11 feet deep.

She dashed out of the house and dove into the pool to rescue him. His face had "reddened like a fire hydrant," she said, but when she pulled him out he appeared none the worse for his experience. He coughed a bit, then smiled up at his mother. Shortly afterward, he demanded something to eat.

HUN RESERVES FAIL TO BREAK SOVIET LINES

Reinforced Russian Armies Meet New Threat, Fight Invaders To Standstill

JAPS MASS FOR BATTLE

Nips Apparently Preparing Drive To Oust Marines From Guadalcanal

By International News Service
Bringing up tremendous reserves of troops, tanks and planes, the Germans were attacking along the Stalingrad front today with an estimated million men, but made no appreciable progress as the Soviet forces also rushed up reinforcements to meet the new Nazi threat.

Northwest of the city the Russian flanking attack continued to move slowly ahead, while within the ruined Volga river city the Red army defenders fought the enemy to a standstill. During the night the Germans threw six successive attacks against the Russian lines on one sector of the Stalingrad front, but each was beaten off.

A strengthened luftwaffe made a 1,000-plane attack on Stalingrad positions and then wave on wave of tank and infantry units battered unavailingly at the Soviet defenses.

While the Red army held off the enemy on the 44th day of the Stalingrad siege, Reuter's Kuibyshev correspondent reported that Premier Josef Stalin's demand that the allies "fulfill their obligations and on time" was prompted by new and desperate developments in the military situation.

Aid Urgently Needed

The nature of developments was not disclosed, but the situation was reported to be critical and the need for aid urgent.

Meantime Wendell L. Willkie, speaking for himself alone, was reported by Reuter's to have declared in Chungking that he wholly approved the Stalin demand for an immediate second front in Europe. Willkie also called for an offensive by the United Nations on all fronts.

On other fronts important developments were taking shape. New Japanese landings on Guadalcanal island in the Solomons were reported despite American air victories. Eleven of 30 fighters es-

22 CARLOADS OF GASOLINE LOST IN TRAIN FIRE

BELLAIRE, Oct. 7—Twenty-two carloads of high octane gasoline were destroyed today by a spectacular fire which broke out after a Baltimore & Ohio freight train piled up outside nearby Neffs. No one was injured.

Drums in which gasoline was stored exploded intermittently, shooting up flames which could be seen 30 miles away. Firemen believed the blaze started with an explosion, but were unable to determine whether the explosion caused several of the cars to leave the track or whether the cars left the track first.

Railroad officials said the fire would have to burn itself out and that traffic probably would be tied up until late tonight.

Peter Cleary, a miner, said the concussion from the exploding oil drums knocked him, his wife and seven children from their beds.

No immediate estimate of damage was available.

Thirty-nine additional men who are completing their furloughs will leave Thursday, reporting at 3:45 p. m. at the courthouse. They will travel by Norfolk and Western railroad to Fort Hayes for assignment.

INFANT FOUND SWIMMING IN 11 FOOT POOL

PRAIRIE VIEW, Ill., Oct. 7—Mr. and Mrs. Leighton Wilkie were not sure today whether their 18-month-old son, Michael, is training to be a junior commando or a champion swimmer.

At any rate, Mrs. Wilkie, said she looked out the front window of their home near Prairie View and was astounded to see the youngster puffing and paddling in the swimming pool—which is 11 feet deep.

She dashed out of the house and dove into the pool to rescue him. His face had "reddened like a fire hydrant," she said, but when she pulled him out he appeared none the worse for his experience. He coughed a bit, then smiled up at his mother. Shortly afterward, he demanded something to eat.

HUN RESERVES FAIL TO BREAK SOVIET LINES

JAPS MASS FOR BATTLE

Nips Apparently Preparing Drive To Oust Marines From Guadalcanal

By International News Service
Bringing up tremendous reserves of troops, tanks and planes, the Germans were attacking along the Stalingrad front today with an estimated million men, but made no appreciable progress as the Soviet forces also rushed up reinforcements to meet the new Nazi threat.

Northwest of the city the Russian flanking attack continued to move slowly ahead, while within the ruined Volga river city the Red army defenders fought the enemy to a standstill. During the night the Germans threw six successive attacks against the Russian lines on one sector of the Stalingrad front, but each was beaten off.

A strengthened Luftwaffe made a 1,000-plane attack on Stalingrad positions and then wave on wave of tank and infantry units battered unavailingly at the Soviet defenses.

While the Red army held off the enemy on the 44th day of the Stalingrad siege, Reuter's Kuibyshev correspondent reported that Premier Josef Stalin's demand that the allies "fulfill their obligations and on time" was prompted by new and desperate developments in the military situation.

Aid Urgently Needed
The nature of developments was not disclosed, but the situation was reported to be critical and the need for aid urgent.

Meantime Wendell L. Willkie, speaking for himself alone, was reported by Reuter's to have declared in Chungking that he wholly approved the Stalin demand for an immediate second front in Europe. Willkie also called for an offensive by the United Nations on all fronts.

On other fronts important developments were taking shape. New Japanese landings on Guadalcanal island in the Solomons were reported despite American air victories. Eleven of 30 fighters es- (Continued on Page Two)

22 CARLOADS OF GASOLINE LOST IN TRAIN FIRE

BELLAIRE, Oct. 7—Twenty-two carloads of high octane gasoline were destroyed today by a spectacular fire which broke out after a Baltimore & Ohio freight train piled up outside nearby Neffs. No one was injured.

Drums in which gasoline was stored exploded intermittently, shooting up flames which could be seen 30 miles away. Firemen believed the blaze started with an explosion, but were unable to determine whether the explosion caused several of the cars to leave the track or whether the cars left the track first.

Railroad officials said the fire would have to burn itself out and that traffic probably would be tied up until late tonight.

Peter Cleary, a miner, said the concussion from the exploding oil drums knocked him, his wife and seven children from their beds. No immediate estimate of damage was available.

ENLISTS, PASSES THEN DIES OF HEART AILMENT

ELGIN, Ill., Oct. 7—Gerald Voris McIntyre, 33, enlisted in the Navy and passed all his physical examinations with flying colors. He had just wound up his personal affairs before reporting for active duty when he suddenly died. Physicians today said the cause was a heart attack.

longer they will have to eat like children at the second table."

Up To America
China and Russia have suffered 5,000,000 casualties in their struggles against the Axis, and it is up to the United States to see that they get a fair share of our arms production, Willkie added.

Recalling that he had visited thirteen countries since he left the United States, Willkie said they unanimously favored a United Nations victory. But, he continued, they also expected action by the democracies, both for the winning of the war and the establishment of free government everywhere after the war.

"I have travelled through thirteen countries," said Willkie. "I have seen kingdoms, Soviets, republics, mandated areas, colonies and dependencies. I have seen an almost bewildering variety of ways of living, and ways of ruling and being ruled."

"But I have found four things common to all the countries that I have visited and to all the ordinary people in those countries with whom I have talked."

All Against Axis
"First, they all want the United Nations to win the war."

"Second, they want the United Nations to get on the offensive now."

"Third, they all want a chance at the end of the war to live in liberty and independence."

"Fourth, they all doubt, in varying degree, the readiness of the leading democracies of the world to stand up and be counted on for the freedom of others after the war is over. This doubt kills their enthusiastic participation on our side."

The winning of the war will be enormously difficult without the support of these people and the winning of the peace will be nearly impossible, the Willkie statement continued. The United Nations have neglected to organize the three-fourths of the world opposed to the Axis in an aggressive offensive spirit, he said.

"Men need more than arms to fight and win this kind of war," Willkie declared. "They need enthusiasm for the future and a conviction that the flags they fight under are in clean, bright colors."

U. S. In Doubt
"The truth is that we as a nation have not made up our minds as to what kind of a world we want to speak for when victory comes."

"Freedom and opportunity are the words which have modern magic for the people of Asia, and we have let the Japanese—the most cruel imperialists the modern world has known—steal these words from us and corrupt them to their own uses."

"Most of the people in Asia have never known democracy. They may or may not want our kind of democracy. Obviously all of them are not ready to have democracy handed to them next Tuesday on a silver platter. But they are all determined to work out their own destiny under governments selected by themselves."

Referring to the Atlantic charter, Willkie said the name disturbed many who wondered "if it applies to the Pacific."

"We must begin to sweat over our common problem of translating the statement into plans which will be concrete and mean-

NURSING COURSE SCHEDULED FOR CITY MECHANICS

NEW YORK, Oct. 7—One month's "nursing" course for mechanics in the city's repair shops to learn how to "baby along" existing equipment was ordered today by Mayor F. H. LaGuardia. In ordering supervisors, foremen and assistant foremen to take the repair shop "nursing" course, LaGuardia said that all cars and trucks must be kept in the best possible repair. He predicted the city probably would revert to using horses if the war lasts five years.

HARLEY G. BYERS, RETIRED FARMER, DIES IN CITY

Harley G. Byers, 87, a retired farmer, died Tuesday at 6:10 p. m. at his home, 414 East Mound street. Mr. Byers had been ill several years, complications causing death.

Mr. Byers was a native of Washington county, born October 30, 1854, a son of Joseph and Rachel Cox Byers. He married Susan Wires on November 3, 1878, his widow and the following children surviving: Alfred of Ashville, George and Richard of Circleville, Adam of Lorain, Mrs. Esther Jewell of Lancaster and Mrs. Josephine Mansberger of Pleasantville. There are also 16 grandchildren, one sister, Mrs. Lydia Sewell and a brother, George, both of Ashville.

Funeral will be Thursday at 2:30 p. m. at the home, the Rev. J. E. Huston officiating. Burial will be in Forest cemetery by M. S. Rinehart. The body will be at the Byers home where friends may call after 6 p. m. Wednesday.

NURSE AID INJURED

Miss Retha Justice, a nurse aid at Berger hospital, suffered fracture of the left leg Tuesday night when roller skating at Laurelville. She was given first aid in the office of Dr. C. T. Grattidge in Laurelville and was then returned to her home in Circleville.

ingful to these millions of people who are our allies.

End of Empires
"We believe this war must mean an end to the empire of nations over other nations. No foot of Chinese soil, for example, should be or can be ruled from now on except by the people who live in it."

"And we must say so now, not after the war. We believe it is the world's job to find some system for helping colonial peoples who join the United Nations' cause to become free and independent nations."

Commenting on the war emergency in the United States, Willkie pointed out that the people have temporarily given up individual freedom and economic liberty in order to crush the Axis.

"We must recover this freedom and this liberty after the war," declared Willkie. "The way to make certain that we will recover our traditional American ways of life with a rising standard of living is to create a world in which all men everywhere can be free."

The Willkie statement was given to the press following a six-hour talk with Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek.

corting a small bombing squadron were shot down as U. S. planes beat off an attempted raid on Guadalcanal airfield on October 2, and a Japanese cruiser was hit by torpedo planes and left afire.

But the enemy succeeded in putting reinforcements ashore under cover of darkness and was apparently preparing to make a determined effort to oust the Marines from their air base.

In the Aleutians U. S. planes were reported carrying out non-stop bombing and machine-gun raids on the Japanese positions at Kiska at the western tip of the island chain.

The RAF followed up a day of heavy bombings of the occupied coast with a night raid on the industrial town of Osnabrueck in Western Germany. Six bombers of a strong force were missing. The air ministry announced that in the nine months up to September 30 the RAF lost 1082 bombers over Germany and occupied territory.

Allied forces in New Guinea continued their pursuit of the enemy over the Owen Stanley range and were reported within four miles of the vital gap in the mile-high range. Meantime allied bombers continued attacks on Japanese bases in the New Guinea area and in the Northern Solomons.

Trouble continued to pile up for Nazi occupational authorities who resorted to stern repressive measures to put down threatened revolts. Ten prominent Norwegians were executed and arrests at Trondheim were reported to exceed several hundred.

A bomb exploded in a Paris motion picture theater where an anti-semitic film was being shown. Twenty persons were injured.

A threat to execute 50 workers in the Renault plant ended a brief strike, while Yugoslav circles in London reported that 50 Serbs were executed in mid-September.

BULLET-PROOF VESTS WORN BY JAP SOLDIERS

LONDON, Oct. 7—Japanese troops fighting in New Guinea are equipped with bullet-proof vests, the Daily Sketch reported today in a dispatch from its Australian correspondent. The protective garments cover the wearer from neck to groin, and weigh approximately 16 pounds. The vests were found in enemy supplies captured in the Milne bay area.

An early felt headwear was the Roman "petasus," a narrow-brimmed skull cap which was the general head covering of the populace. Slaves were not permitted to wear it, and a ceremony in connection with making a slave a free man was the presentation of the citizen's petasus.

JEFFERS WARNS AUTO CHEATERS TO "LOOK OUT"

WASHINGTON, Oct. 7—Any one contemplating violation of the government's rubber and gas rationing programs today are on warning from Rubber Director William M. Jeffers to "look out." In his first public speech since his appointment, Jeffers expressed confidence that the present regulations would meet with the voluntary support of the great majority of the public, but he added: "For that small segment of our population who will try to beat the game I only have this to say—look out."

U. S., BRITAIN PLAN FURTHER AID FOR RUSSIA

Joint Program Provides Big Monthly Delivery Of War Supplies During Winter

June 11. The agreement also is a sequel to the original protocol signed in Moscow in October last year when the Harriman-Beaverbrook mission made definite commitments concerning the amount of aid the United States and Britain would send to Russia.

Supply Ships Sunk
The American government was unable to fulfill on schedule all of its commitments in this original protocol—partly because some of the supplies were sunk in the terrific attack made by German sea and air forces on the convoys along the northern route to Russia.

However, a total of more than $2,000,000,000 worth of war supplies has been pledged by the United States to Russia and it is hoped that an increasing amount will get through during the coming months.

The Anglo-American promise of continued aid to Russia is not expected to lessen the Soviet pressure for the opening of a second front. In this connection, the State department is awaiting the return to Washington of Admiral William Standley, American ambassador to Moscow, for a clarification of Stalin's virtual demand that the allies meet their obligations "in full and on time."

American officials feel that the new agreement meets this country's specific obligation to Russia. There was never any belief in official circles in Washington that the United States had undertaken a definite obligation to open a second front in Europe this year irrespective of whether preparations were complete for such a venture.

EXPENDITURES HIT
COLUMBUS, Oct. 7—State Auditor Joseph T. Ferguson, a Democrat, accused the administration of Governor Bricker of "wasteful extravagance" today as he released his annual report for 1941, which established last year's total expenditures at an all time high of $339,817,296.

1-A CLASS RUNS OUT FOR MANY DRAFT BOARDS

Third Of Ohio Districts Have Sent All In Class Into Service

PICKAWAY HAS RESERVE

Married Men Not Expected To Be Called Before First Of Year

While 110 of Ohio's 330 draft boards have informed Colonel Chester W. Goble, state Selective Service chief, that induction of married men without children will be necessary within the next few weeks, Pickaway county Selective Service office reiterated its statement that local men who were married before registration need not expect to be called to the Army before the first of the year at the earliest.

Local board's supply of I-A single men has been holding up well and a reservoir of between 80 and 100 I-A fifth registration youths—boys who have recently become 20 years of age—has not yet been touched except by enlistment in various services.

Pickaway county board indicated a week ago that men married before induction was imminent need not make plans for entering service until January, and possibly February, providing the present trend of induction orders is not increased greatly.

The big October call, largest to be asked of the county since the Draft Act became law, will be filled with third registration single men, men who had been transferred from I-B to I-A, men who were married after registration and men whose deferments or stays of induction expired. The third registration list, which includes men 35 to 45 and some 20-year-olds, has not yet been exhausted in Pickaway county.

Colonel Goble instructed the 110 local boards reporting shortages in single men to review all their other classifications and submit to him a final report. He asked that they complete classification of all 20-year-olds, review all 3-A and 3-B classifications, and reconsider 2-A and 2-B deferments.

About six weeks ago, Colonel Goble stated that married men without children might be drafted in Ohio sometime in December.

If the 110 boards confirm their preliminary reports that their supply of I-A men is depleted, draft calls will be adjusted so other boards will be required to furnish Ohio's quotas until a similar situation prevails in all 330 boards.

"The only step left then," the Selective Service chief said, "will be drafting of married men without children."

However, he pointed out that men now in 3-A because of collateral dependents, that is other than wives and children with whom the registrant maintains a family relationship, shall be re-classified into I-A before bona fide family relationships are broken up.

Among boards reporting shortage of I-A men are two in Allen county, two in Belmont county, 12 in Cuyahoga county, 10 in Franklin county, one in Fulton, nine in Hamilton, two in Hancock, one in Harrison, Jefferson, Lorain, Medina, Muskingum, Paulding, Richland, Shelby, Wayne and Williams, two in Ross, four in Stark and two in Tuscarawas.

SOLDIER RECOVERS CARD

Police Chief W. F. McCrady returned an identification card and drivers' license Wednesday to Private Leroy Elliott, 17, of Patterson field, Fairfield, O., the card and license having been lost here during the week end. The chief said the card and license were picked up on the street and turned in to police headquarters. A letter was received Wednesday from the youth and his belongings were put into the mail.

MAIL SOLDIERS' XMAS GIFTS BEFORE NOVEMBER 1.

READ THE RULES—The following rules, issued by the Postoffice Department in cooperation with the Army Postal Service of the War Department, apply to the mailing of Christmas parcels for members of our Armed Forces serving outside the continental limits of the United States.

TIME OF MAILING—Christmas parcels and greeting cards should be mailed during the period beginning October 1 and ending November 1, 1942, the earlier the better. Each package should be endorsed "Christmas Parcel." Special effort will be made for delivery in time for Christmas.

SIZE AND WEIGHT—Christmas parcels shall not exceed 11 pounds in weight, or 18 inches in length or 42 inches in length and girth combined. However, the public has been urged to cooperate by voluntarily restricting parcels to the size of an ordinary shoe box and the weight to six pounds.

USE CARE IN PREPARATION—Remembering the great distance this mail will be transported and the necessary storage and frequent handling, it is absolutely necessary that articles be packed in substantial boxes or containers and be covered with wrappings of sufficient strength to resist pressure of other mail. Each parcel is subject to censorship and delay may be minimized by securing covering to permit ready inspection of contents.

PROHIBITED MATTER—Intoxicants, inflammable materials, poisons or compositions likely to damage mails are unsuitable. No perishable matter should be included in parcels.

HOW TO ADDRESS PARCELS—Addresses must be legible. Parcels addressed to overseas Army personnel should show in addition to the full name and address of the sender, the name rank, Army serial number, branch of service, organization, A.P.O. number of the addressee and the postoffice through which parcels are to be routed. Units located within the continental United States may be addressed direct, using name, rank, organization and location.

POSTAGE MUST BE FULLY PREPAID—The rate on parcels of fourth-class matter (exceeding eight ounces) being the same rate applicable from the postoffice where mailed to the postoffice in the care of which parcels are addressed.

GREETING MESSAGES PERMISSIBLE—Inscriptions such as "Merry Christmas," "Don't open until Christmas" and the like may be placed on the covering of the parcel if it does not interfere with the address. Cards may be enclosed and books may bear a simple dedicatory inscription.

INSURANCE AND REGISTRY—Gifts of value should be insured. Articles of small size and considerable value should be sealed and sent as first-class registered mail.

MONEY ORDERS—The Army Postal Service recommends use of postal money orders to transmit gifts of money to members of Armed Forces outside the United States. These are cashed at A.P.O. in local foreign currency at rate of exchange on date of presentation.

WITH LOCAL BOYS UNDER THE FLAG

Captain Tom Drum of Service Battery, 136th Field Artillery, APO 37, Postmaster, San Francisco, in a letter received by Mrs. Drum of West Mound street, said, "There is not much that I can say as yet. I cannot tell where we are, or how we got here, nothing about the trip or the people until the War department announces the fact that the American Forces are here."

"It is a very nice place and I have met some very nice people, but the more you see the more you can appreciate what we have in the good old U.S.A."

"You can tell one and all that all the boys with me are all well, a little hard, but that is only doing them good and they are in there pitching like veterans."

Private Paul Greene of Columbus, who is in training at Fort Knox, Ky., is a guest at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Stout, North Pickaway street, during a furlough. He reports Private Jack Ryan, formerly of Circleville, as being ill, suffering from arthritis. A veteran of World War I, Ryan, a barber, was inducted from Chillicothe.

Corporal James E. Crawford, son of Mr. and Mrs. James L. Crawford of Orient, has been transferred from Fort Benning, Ga., to Fort McClellan, Ala., for a 13-week training course in an officers' candidate school.

He has been serving as an instructor at Fort McClellan since the first of the year.

Mrs. Nathan Perkins has received a cablegram from her son, Corporal John Jenkins, that he is well and fit at his station somewhere in the Pacific. With Jenkins are William Friece, Dave Walker, Pruitt Timmons and several others from Circleville.

John E. Thomas, seaman third class, of Curtis Bay, Baltimore, Md., is spending a short furlough with his mother, Mrs. Gladys Thomas, 828 South Court street. He enlisted in the coast guard on August 25 and will be transferred when he returns to Curtis Bay where he has had his basic training.

ELKS INCREASE GIFT

Circleville Elks boosted their Community Chest contribution from $200 to $300 at Tuesday evening's business meeting which followed a chicken dinner served to more than 200 members of the organization.

During the initiatory exercises Curtis H. Pyle of Williamsport became a member of the lodge.

TOWNSHIPS TO COLLECT $5,557 FROM ESTATE

Jackson township treasury will be boosted by more than $4,700 and Circleville corporation will receive more than $800 from probate court distribution of inheritance tax from the estate of Charlott J. Caldwell, of Circleville. Total tax is $5,557.07 of which Jackson township, where all her real estate is located, will receive 80.6 percent and Circleville will be given 19.4 percent.

The gross value of the Caldwell estate was $90,286.13. Probate Judge Lemuel Weldon disclosed Wednesday in announcing the distribution.

The property is being divided among relatives.

DISTRICT FARM ASSEMBLY SET IN CITY FRIDAY

AAA committeemen, county farm agents and farm field women will gather in Circleville Friday for an all-day district meeting to be held in Betz restaurant. The event will be attended by agriculture authorities from eight South central Ohio counties. Various problems confronting the AAA and the farmers in general will be discussed.

Harry Donohoo of Blanchester, district AAA field man, will preside over the meeting.

Officials of the eight counties meet each month in a different county seat.

NEW TRIAL DENIED

Judge Meeker Terwilliger has overruled motion for a new trial filed Tuesday by the Ohio Industrial Commission in the appeal of Ted Drake for the right to participate in the state insurance fund because of an injury received when he was working for the state highway department. The court granted Drake, who is now ill in a Chicago hospital, the right to receive state compensation.

COUNTY SHOWS SLOW GAIN IN TAX STAMP SALE

Continuing to show a slow but steady increase in sales tax volume, Pickaway county treasurer's office Wednesday disclosed that for the last two weeks receipts have showed gains over the same week in 1941. To date the county's total of sales tax receipts for the year is $56,747.25.

During the week of September 26 the total reported to the state was $1,838, a slight gain over 1941's $1,821.13 for the same week. The gain in the week ending September 19 was slightly more.

Other central and southern Ohio counties showing gains for the week included Perry, Fayette and Clinton while losses were reported in Ross, Madison and Fairfield.

That Pickaway county went contrary to the state trend in the September 26 week was indicated when the state reported a loss of $47,444.80 compared with the same week a year ago. During the collection period which closed September 26 net sales of tax stamps amounted to $1,090,276.21 compared with $1,137,721.01 last year.

The largest single gain is reflected in the general classification, moving up from $178,832.58 last year to $209,967.52. Food continued to remain in the higher bracket, moving from $103,991.64 to $110,465.80, with apparel jumping from $84,794.34 to $87,763.97.

Meanwhile the automotive group continued its downward trend, dropping from $160,082.29 to $72,248.65, followed by the furniture classification which skidded from $75,350.33 to $55,226.69, while the building group moved down from $99,787.37 to $61,937.52.

Chain store, however, moved back into the gain column, with receipts of $343,147.90 as compared with $314,414.23 during the identical week of last year, with miscellaneous also showing a gain of from $166,509.47 to $191,367.86, the report shows.

COUNTY SHOWS SLOW GAIN IN TAX STAMP SALE

Continuing to show a slow but steady increase in sales tax volume, Pickaway county treasurer's office Wednesday disclosed that for the last two weeks receipts have showed gains over the same week in 1941. To date the county's total of sales tax receipts for the year is $56,747.25.

During the week of September 26 the total reported to the state was $1,838, a slight gain over 1941's $1,821.13 for the same week. The gain in the week ending September 19 was slightly more.

Other central and southern Ohio counties showing gains for the week included Perry, Fayette and Clinton while losses were reported in Ross, Madison and Fairfield.

That Pickaway county went contrary to the state trend in the September 26 week was indicated when the state reported a loss of $4,444.80 compared with the same week a year ago. During the collection period which closed September 26 net sales of tax stamps amounted to $1,090,276.21 compared with $1,137,721.01 last year.

The largest single gain is reflected in the general classification, moving up from $178,832.58 last year to $209,967.52. Food continued to remain in the higher bracket, moving from $103,991.64 to $110,465.80, with apparel jumping from $84,794.34 to $87,763.97.

Meanwhile the automotive group continued its downward trend, dropping from $160,082.29 to $72,248.65, followed by the furniture classification which skidded from $75,350.33 to $55,226.69, while the building group moved down from $99,787.37 to $61,937.52.

Chain store, however, moved back into the gain column, with receipts of $343,147.90 as compared with $314,414.23 during the identical week of last year, with miscellaneous also showing a gain of from $166,509.47 to $191,367.86, the report shows.

MINNESOTA IRON

BROADLY speaking, modern wars seem to be won by the outfit that can throw most iron at the other fellow, or drop it on their heads. And big ironroads are being made now into the available surplus.

Uncle Sam, the most lavish of all, will be shipping about 75,000,000 tons of fabricated steel abroad, every year while the war lasts, for that purpose. He is lucky enough to have the biggest available iron deposit in the world, in the Mesabi range of Minnesota, which is in the Hiawatha country. And it does not even have to be mined, in the usual sense. It consists of immense deposits of loose iron-rust that is scooped out of the ground with huge steam shovels, and is easily transported and turned into the shells and the ships that carry them. But at the present rate of consumption the best of it will be used up by 1950. Perhaps Hitler will be, too, by that time.

Anyway it seems providential. Minnesota will be winning the war for world freedom, at least as much as any other participant.

ALLIED PUSH

THE demand for a "second front" grows more insistent. It is beginning to get under the hides of the British and American governments, as it is meant to do.

Material help has been received gratefully by Russia and has helped to stem the tide. It grows steadily. But Russian efforts are still immensely greater than this country's. So, perhaps, are British efforts. Americans have not yet fought a Battle of Britain or a Battle of Stalingrad.

The present facts and equities are fairly clear. Russia, having held the Nazis alone for several weeks in the greatest of all battles, is naturally left weakened. A strong, sustained push is needed now on a front that will further weaken the enemy and help the Allies. Its value would be both material and psychological.

There must be reasonable preparations for any such thrust, but it cannot wait until the last gun and plane and tank and buckle are ready. The timing is as important as the equipment.

The WASHINGTON MERRY-GO-ROUND

By DREW PEARSON

ROSENWALD REFUSES TO QUIT

WASHINGTON — The backstage maneuvering to ease Donald Nelson's old Sears Roebuck boss, Lessing Rosenwald, out of the WPB salvage picture fizzled last week. Plans were all set to have Rosenwald demoted from the vital spot where he is responsible for scrap iron, tin and other collection campaigns. But in a show-down WPB conference, he flatly refused to budge.

Rosenwald told WPB colleagues that he had two boys in the Marine Corps, and he was going to stay right where he was. Donald Nelson didn't have the heart to fire him. As a result a round-Robin-Hood's-barn shake-up has been arranged whereby Rosenwald continues as Director of Conservation, but two men are put under him as deputy directors who will do the real work of collecting scrap iron and other strategic materials.

They are: hard-working R. K. White, former automobile salesman, formerly in charge of the tin can drive, who now will be in charge of general salvage; and L. F. Kittings, a Shell Oil official. They will take over, in fact, while Rosenwald continues as titular boss. This means replacement of Herbert Hoover's old friend, Herbert L. Gutterson, former executive secretary of the Republican National Committee, who was in charge of general salvage, and who, on the whole, has done a good job. Born in India, Gutterson was one of Hoover's right hand men in European food relief during World War I, having been in charge of $30,000,000 fund to feed European children. Gutterson will now take charge of salvage field operations.

The scrap iron campaign lost one of its most hard-hitting and dynamic figures last week when Bill Colvert, former Carlsbad, N. M., editor, resigned from WPB's Salvage Division and enlisted as a buck private in the Army. Colvert was the chief author of the plan for collecting scrap iron through the schools. Fed up with fighting on the home front, Bill fired this parting shot at his superiors as he entrained for Camp Lee, Va. "When I get in the Army, and I have to ride in a wooden truck, I'm coming back and I'm going to blast you right out of Washington."

TRUST IN NEW YORK

A group of Western congressmen were complaining to Jesse Jones about the concentration of war industries in the East.

"We used to hear a lot of talk about decentralizing industry, but conditions are as bad today as they were before the war," said Warren Magnuson. "Take steel, for instance. We have plenty of iron ore deposits near shipyards and aircraft plants in the State of Washington."

"Yet we have to ship steel all the way across the country because the big steel companies, fearing competition after the war, have blocked efforts to build government-financed steel mills in the Northwest."

Jones pondered the problem, then asked the protesting congressman if he knew the motto on a silver dollar.

"In God we trust," was the reply.

New Remedy In Use For Cases of Psoriasis

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

PSORIASIS is a skin disease which is very annoying to the people who have it, and the first thing that any one of them tells you about it is that they have tried thousands of remedies and that none of them does any good.

This is a pardonable exaggeration.

Dr. Clendingen will answer questions of general interest only, and then only through his column.

tion, but not strictly true. It is true that there are a great many remedies for psoriasis, but all of them do some good because it is a recurrent rather than chronic or progressive disease. It is likely to come on in the fall and winter and practically disappear during the spring and summer.

Many different things aggravate it. "Nerves" is one. For instance, I have heard of one patient who was a student aviator. There was no flying due to bad weather in February and his psoriasis almost got well. But as the time for his first solo test flight came up, he got nervous and his skin eruption became quite active and widespread.

Remedies

All this being true and the nature of the malady being what it is, many remedies help it at least temporarily and if it is understood that any remedy I recommend is not put out as a complete cure, and if it does no harm, I am willing to mention the new ones as they come up.

The newest, then, is one of the oldest remedies known to the old housewives—none other than the great spring tonic, sarsaparilla.

To this day I do not know what sarsaparilla does as a spring tonic, nor what its action is. It seems to have some influence on fat, and while this may partially explain its action in psoriasis, it tells nothing about it as a spring tonic.

The sarsaparilla now used is a special product, preferably from Honduras, prepared in the form of tablets. Since the whole problem is so much in the experimental stage, we feel they should be given under the direction of a physician. They should be taken faithfully for quite a period of time.

Diet

A diet low in fat will prove beneficial for quite a large number of patients. Liquids to the amount of two or three quarts a day besides the regular amounts used at the table are recommended as an adjunct to treatment.

There is no reason why local treatments such as the patient is used to cannot be given along with the sarsaparilla tablets. This includes irradiation with an ultraviolet lamp, tonic and ointment, lanolin, olive oil, salicylate and sulphur ointments and modified coal tars.

When use of this sarsaparilla was first given a trial, however, no other treatment was given, in order to make sure it was the sarsaparilla and nothing else that was causing the improvement. The treatment has now been under trial for over two years. There has been marked improvement in 75 per cent of patients, moderate in some, and no improvement in others.

Since the patients were seen through two summers, it has been concluded that the sarsaparilla helps the effect of the sun.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

C. R.:—Could you please tell me if there is a cure for rheumatism of the inflammatory kind?

Answer: This was thoroughly discussed in the column recently.

H. M., Kapreskasing, Ontario: I have heard that it is not good either to poach or scramble eggs, as it kills the vitamins. Is this true?

Answer: No, the vitamins in eggs are not destroyed by heat.

EDITOR'S NOTE: Dr. Clendingen has seven pamphlets which can be obtained by readers. Each pamphlet sells for 10 cents. For any one pamphlet desired, send 10 cents in coin, and a self-addressed envelope to Logan Clendingen, M. D., 1000 E. 12th St., Cleveland, Ohio. The pamphlets are: "Three Weeks' Reducing Diet," "Indigestion and Constipation," "Reducing and Gaining," "Infant Feeding," "Instructions for the Treatment of Diabetes," "Feminine Hygiene" and "The Care of the Hair and Skin."

SYNOPSIS

Following her mother's death, red-haired, slim MARY DEXTER leaves Omaha to take a job in the Nordex Aircraft plant in California. She shares an apartment with FRANK BOND, night club singer and dancer. Friendship develops between Mary and Frank.

KEN GRANT, young mechanical engineer, also newly employed at Nordex.

YESTERDAY: Ken and Mary visit the night club at which Frank works.

CHAPTER FIVE

BOTH MARY and Frank slept late next day. When Mary opened her eyes, still heavy with sleep, and glanced at her wrist watch she was surprised to see that it was 1:30 o'clock. From the street below rose pleasant sounds of children playing, the sharp tang of salt air filled the room and Mary could hear the soothing roar of the Pacific. From the direction of the kitchenette Frank was humming her latest feature song and the pleasant aroma of cooking made Mary feel that it was a pretty good world after all.

"Breakfast ready?" Mary called. "What do you mean, breakfast? It's past 1:30 in the afternoon. If you insist that we name it, I would say 'Brunch' would be more appropriate," Frank said with a laugh.

Mary dressed hurriedly and was just putting on the final touch of lipstick as Frank brought in a platter of scrambled eggs, toast and orange marmalade. Just as they were finishing, Ken dropped in to drive Mary to work. He immediately started to renew the argument on the war when both girls pounced on him at the same time. "We heard enough of that last night," Frank chided. "Okay," Ken said, smiling. "One thing I do know, and that is, never to argue with a woman, especially a bossy one like you or a redhead."

On the way to the plant newsboys surrounded the car at every traffic light. Screaming headlines told blatantly of the latest war news. Ken wanted to get a paper, but Mary told him to save it until later.

"I don't care if the headlines DO look worse," she declared. "I'm getting tired of being 'cautious and on my guard' at work, and talking war all night and being bombed in my sleep. What I want is a nice old-fashioned picnic on a peaceful green hilltop."

"Tomorrow's Sunday," Ken said. "Now's the time to talk about it. Might take Burke along for Frank. He seems like a good guy. We could buy one of those ready-packed lunches."

"Buy nothing!" cried Mary. "Frank and I will roast a chicken tonight and make a cake and sandwiches and all those nice old-fashioned things that make you forget there really is a war."

"Sounds fair enough. You and Frank bring the food, and Burke and I will contribute our charming personalities. Or maybe I could scare up a mass of black ants to turn loose on our food so we could have the real atmosphere of a picnic. After all, what is a picnic without ants galloping all over everything? I remember a picnic we had back home. Somebody brought a custard pie and the ants were so bad that day everyone mistook it for raisin."

Mary laughed. "You idiot, you aren't increasing my appetite for this picnic one bit with your ant stories." As Mary and Ken rode along that white stretch of highway that led to the Nordex plant, gayly chatting and planning their picnic, neither of them realized that within a few hours the west coast was to be paralyzed by the uncertain fears of their first blackout. At nine-thirty the sirens shrieked for a total blackout.

Inside the plant, work went on as usual, but with the air charged with excitement and suspense. The windows had for weeks been painted black for an emergency like this, that most workers thought would never come. Stuffed whispering ran up and down the production line. Under the blue lights tenseness lined the faces of the workers. Some tried to pass it off lightly, to make a job of it, but deep down they all knew they were facing real danger for the first time. The Japs knew our coast line as well as we did, had air maps and photographs of every foot of it. Mary's mind went back swiftly to the paper she had signed the day she had come to work. She couldn't remember the exact wording now. It was a release of responsibility for the company in case a worker were killed while at his job. At the time it had seemed like a useless, silly thing. Just more red tape, she had thought, that was really meaningless. Now she was beginning to realize it wasn't silly at all—in fact, it was the most serious thing that had ever happened in her whole life. Strange, she thought, that she didn't want to run away. That she wanted desperately to stay right here even in the midst of danger and do her part. She'd show Bruce Martin that she wasn't a "spineless little redhead." All the time Mary was bolstering up her courage in her own mind, she realized that she was really scared stiff.

"One thing I do know and that is never to argue with a woman."

The girl at the desk next to Mary looked up from her typewriter with tears brimming in her eyes. In Mary's concern for her she momentarily forgot her own troubles.

"What's the trouble?" Mary whispered softly. "Do you think they will really drop bombs?" the girl asked, almost sobbing. "Tonight?"

The girl nodded. "Yes." "No! Didn't you hear the radio this afternoon?"

Mary hadn't heard anything really, but she knew she had to say something comforting or the girl would go all to pieces.

"This isn't a real blackout. Just a test so people can get used to the idea."

The girl heaved a great sigh of relief and smiled thankfully at Mary.

Willie, the office boy with the well-scrubbed look, was thriving on the excitement. Every few minutes he would dart out of the office to take a look at the sky and then make a breathless report on how black everything was and how the huge searchlights were combing the skies for enemy aircraft. He made too loud an announcement to one of the workers about his being an air-raid watcher and drew a dark look of reproach from Connie.

At closing time, Mary found her hands trembling as she put on her coat. Workers laughed shakily as they found themselves whispering their "goodbyes."

Connie was aglow with a tense, passionate anxiety. "They won't bomb the plant," she kept repeating. There was a tone of reverence in her voice almost like she was repeating a prayer.

As the dark stream of workers moved out of the buildings tonight and crossed the plant grounds to the tunnel, they moved sluggishly. The usual carefree lightness of their steps was gone. Without a moon to relieve the pitch darkness, the mass moved in a slow, cautious shuffle. They stumbled into each other, into the corners of buildings. Quick, nervous laughter and kidding followed each accident, but not for long. Ears were strained for sounds of planes that might be enemy. Breaths were held and then let out in tense paroxysms. There was a spreading, uncontrollable excitement—a thrilling sense of being caught in the center of a vast game of fabulous possibilities. It was one of those things that you read about and yet never actually happen. Even now to Mary there seemed an unreality about it, like she was acting in a play.

At the tunnel entrance Mary hesitated and then remembered that Ken said he had a couple of hours of overtime tonight. She went on through the tunnel and to the bus stop. Cars were creeping by at a snail's pace, with no headlights burning. A man beside her expressed his opinions of the "stinking Japs" in eloquent terms. He struck a match and cupped his hands to light a cigarette. For an instant the match flared like a torch before Mary's face. It went out—and then suddenly she heard it—his voice, from the car stalled in the long line of traffic just in front of her.

"Hi, there, redhead! Want a lift?"

Mary moved forward. A car door swung open. An instant later she had stepped into the low-slung, gray monster beside Bruce Martin. (To Be Continued)

WORLD AT A GLANCE

—By—
Charles P. Stewart

WASHINGTON—Selective Service Director Lewis B. Hershey stirred up a considerable bonfire nest with his recent scolding of Americans who haven't yet induced themselves into wartime jobs, in an address before a national management association, gathered to discuss the alleged delay in our mobilization of manpower for productive purposes applicable to the current emergency.

The general is finding himself pretty copiously and angrily answered editorially, by the press throughout the country. Other executives, who have blamed the public for dereliction in reporting for civilian but urgent duties essential to 100 per cent effectiveness in fulfillment of Uncle Sam's share in the conflict against the Axis, are being panned similarly, not on the ground that they ask for anything too much, but that they don't ask for it intelligently.

The editorial critics' position is that an overwhelming majority of our Yankee citizenry is more than enthusiastically willing to make bitter personal sacrifices, as well as to lend very-moderately-paid-for aid in behalf of our armed effort—only, the average has no clear idea just where his services are needed. If he's conscripted, for out-and-out fighting, he knows what's expected of him, or, if not, he's soon told. Let him get out, however, and scratch for some such collateral assignment as General Hershey refers to and he's liable to have to look for it hither and yon.

Programs Confusing

And why aren't such berths listed, with no search warrant required to find one, with no complications involved, except to volunteer?

Why, the reason, according to non-official analysts of the situation, is that our General Hersheys and other executives haven't got their own various programs worked out in detail, and don't know, themselves, precisely whom and what they do and don't want.

It's been advertised, though, that the correct system for our war managements to deal with their respective problems is to get tough with the public—to warn us that we "CAN lose," or "ARE losing" the war—our own fault.

Apparently this sort of thing has been overdone. Through the press, executive-dom's being warned, in turn, that the public's on the verge of getting tough with it.

The charge is that folk like General Hershey appear to be still fumbling around for an over-all manpower policy, and are trying to hold the rest of us responsible for their failure to adopt it concretely.

Of course a congressional mandate is necessary to empower the executive groups to go ahead competently.

That appears to call for some legislation. Legislation is slow work, too. Congress has been pokey in getting at it. Nevertheless, the executive function is to put a burr under the legislative tail—not to bawl out the general public because the burr isn't there.

Nelson's Tactics

War Production Manager Donald M. Nelson has been more constructive and less of a scold than most of his associated war organizers. While they've been cursing the public he's been screaming for action on Capitol Hill to centralize business into one big agency, but to provide the necessary machinery to DE-centralize it after the war, to avoid an industrial dictatorship later on.

Nelson was quite severely criticized initially, as being insufficiently hard-boiled.

Since then he's boiled considerably additionally, and yet his boiling has been in a direction whence intelligent; not the mere scoldish kind.

Donald's got construction in mind—not mere wartime construction, but a reorganization of business after the war.

If he gets away with it, he'll be history's prime-wonder. It stands to reason that he's regarded skeptically today.

If his scheme works, he'll be business' Messiah on into the next century.

But Donald doesn't scold, like Hershey, a military man. Donald's an economist. His forecast is on into the economic forever. General Hershey's an item of today.

loss or separations and possibly sorrows or regrets. While it may be a devastating and disintegrating influence, at the same time there may be favors, advancement or public approval of cherished ideals.

A child born on this day should have creative ability and initiative which should assure it favors and cooperation from superiors.

You're Telling Me!

THERE'S ONE shortage in this war which is an extremely pleasant one. Have you, too, noticed the great scarcity of slackers?

No matter what your education, YOU can win the highest degree—not honorary, but honorable! John Citizen, W. B. B.—War Bond Buyer!

WASHINGTON—Selective Service Director Lewis B. Hershey stirred up a considerable hornet nest with his recent scolding of Americans who haven't yet inducted themselves into wartime jobs, in an address before a national management association, gathered to discuss the alleged delay in our mobilization of manpower for productive purposes applicable to the current emergency.

Lewis Hershey

The general is finding himself pretty copiously and angrily answered editorially, by the press throughout the country. Other executives, who have blamed the public for dereliction in reporting for civilian but urgent duties essential to 100 per cent effectiveness in fulfillment of Uncle Sam's share in the conflict against the Axis, are being panned similarly, not on the ground that they ask for anything too much, but that they don't ask for it intelligently.

The editorial critics' position is that an overwhelming majority of our Yankee citizenry is more than enthusiastically willing to make bitter personal sacrifices, as well as to lend very moderately-paid-for aid in behalf of our armed effort—only, the average has no clear idea just where his services are needed. If he's conscripted, for out-and-out fighting, he knows what's expected of him, or, if not, he's soon told. Let him get out, however, and scratch for some such collateral assignment as General Hershey refers to and he's liable to have to look for it hither and yon.

Programs Confusing
And why aren't such berths listed, with no search warrant required to find one, with no complications involved, except to volunteer? Why, the reason, according to non-official analysts of the situation, is that our General Hershey and other executives haven't got their own various programs worked out in detail, and don't know, themselves, precisely whom and what they do and don't want.

It's been advertised, though, that the correct system for our war managements to deal with their respective problems is to get together with the public—to warn us that we "CAN lose," or "ARE losing" the war—our own fault.

Apparently this sort of thing has been overdone. Through the press, executive-dom's being warned, in turn, that the public's on the verge of getting tough with it. The charge is that folk like General Hershey appear to be still fumbling around for an over-all manpower policy, and are trying to hold the rest of us responsible for their failure to adopt it concretely.

Of course a congressional mandate is necessary to empower the executive groups to go ahead competently. That appears to call for some

ROSENWALD REFUSES TO QUIT

WASHINGTON—The backstage maneuvering to ease Donald Nelson's old Sears Roebuck boss, Lessing Rosenwald, out of the WPB salvage picture fizzled last week. Plans were all set to have Rosenwald demoted from the vital spot where he is responsible for scrap iron, tin and other collection campaigns. But in a showdown WPB conference, he flatly refused to budge.

Rosenwald told WPB colleagues that he had two boys in the Marine Corps, and he was going to stay right where he was. Donald Nelson didn't have the heart to fire him. As a result a round-Robin-Hood's-barn shake-up has been arranged whereby Rosenwald continues as Director of Conservation, but two men are put under him as deputy directors who will do the real work of collecting scrap iron and other strategic materials.

They are: hard-working R. K. White, former automobile salesman, formerly in charge of the tin can drive, who now will be in charge of general salvage; and L. F. Kittings, a Shell Oil official. They will take over, in fact, while Rosenwald continues as titular boss. This means replacement of Herbert Hoover's old friend, Herbert L. Gutterson, former executive secretary of the Republican National Committee, who was in charge of general salvage, and who, on the whole, has done a good job. Born in India, Gutterson was one of Hoover's right hand men in European food relief during World War I, having been in charge of $30,000,000 fund to feed European children. Gutterson will now take charge of salvage field operations.

The scrap iron campaign lost one of its most hard-hitting and dynamic figures last week when Bill Colvert, former Carlsbad, N. M., editor, resigned from WPB's Salvage Division and enlisted as a buck private in the Army. Colvert was the chief author of the plan for collecting scrap iron through the schools. Fed up with fighting on the home front, Bill fired this parting shot at his superiors as he entrusted for Camp Lee, Va. "When I get in the Army, and I have to ride in a wooden truck, I'm coming back and I'm going to blast you right out of Washington."

TRUST IN NEW YORK

A group of Western congressmen were complaining to Jesse Jones about the concentration of war industries in the East.

"We used to hear a lot of talk about decentralizing industry, but conditions are as bad today as they were before the war," said Warren Magnuson. "Take steel, for instance. We have plenty of iron ore deposits near shipyards and aircraft plants in the State of Washington."

"Yet we have to ship steel all the way across the country because the big steel companies, fearing competition after the war, have blocked efforts to build government-financed steel mills in the Northwest."

Jones pondered the problem, then asked the protesting congressman if he knew the motto on a silver dollar.

"In God we trust," was the reply.

"Right," said Jones, "but the motto on

New Remedy In Use For Cases of Psoriasis

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.
PSORIASIS is a skin disease which is very annoying to the people who have it, and the first thing that any one of them tells you about it is that they have tried thousands of remedies and that none of them does any good. This is a pardonable exaggeration.

Dr. Clendinging will answer questions of general interest only, and then only through his column.

tion, but not strictly true. It is true that there are a great many remedies for psoriasis, but all of them do some good because it is a recurrent rather than a chronic or progressive disease. It is likely to come on in the fall and winter and practically disappear during the spring and summer.

Many different things aggravate it. "Nerves" is one. For instance, I have heard of one patient who was a student aviator. There was no flying due to bad weather in February and his psoriasis almost got well. But as the time for his first solo test flight came up, he got nervous and his skin eruption became quite active and widespread.

Remedies
All this being true and the nature of the malady being what it is, many remedies help it at least temporarily and if it is understood that any remedy I recommend is not put out as a complete cure, and if it does no harm, I am willing to mention the new ones as they come up.

The newest, then, is one of the oldest remedies known to the old housewives—none other than the great spring tonic, sarsaparilla.

To this day I do not know what sarsaparilla does as a spring tonic, nor what its action is. It seems to have some influence on fat, and while this may partially explain its action in psoriasis, it tells nothing about it as a spring tonic.

The sarsaparilla now used is a special product, preferably from Honduras, prepared in the form of tablets. Since the whole problem is so much in the experimental stage, we feel they should be given under the direction of a physician. They should be taken faithfully for quite a period of time.

Diet
A diet low in fat will prove beneficial for quite a large number of patients. Liquids to the amount of two or three quarts a day besides the regular amounts used at the table are recommended as an adjunct to treatment.

There is no reason why local treatments such as the patient is used to cannot be given along with the sarsaparilla tablets. This includes irradiation with an ultraviolet lamp, tonic and ointment, lanolin, olive oil, salicylate and sulphur ointments and modified coal tars.

When used in this sarsaparilla was first given a trial, however, no other treatment was given, in order to make sure it was the sarsaparilla and nothing else that was causing the improvement. The treatment has now been under trial for over two years. There has been marked improvement in 75 per cent of patients, moderate in some, and no improvement in others.

Since the patients were seen through two summers, it has been concluded that the sarsaparilla helps the effect of the sun.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

C. R.:—Could you please tell me if there is a cure for rheumatism of the inflammatory kind?

Answer: This was thoroughly discussed in the column recently.

H. M., Kapreaskasing, Ontario: I have heard that it is not good either to poach or scramble eggs, as it kills the vitamins. Is this true?

Answer: No, the vitamins in eggs are not destroyed by heat.

EDITOR'S NOTE: Dr. Clendinging has seven pamphlets which can be obtained by readers. Each pamphlet sells for 10 cents. For any one pamphlet desired, send 10 cents in coin, and a self-addressed envelope stamped with a three-cent stamp, to Dr. Logan Clendinging, in care of this paper. The pamphlets are: "Three Weeks' Reducing Diet," "Indigestion and Constipation," "Reducing and Gaining," "Infant Feeding," "Instructions for the Treatment of Diabetes," "Feminine Hygiene" and "The Care of the Hair and Skin."

SYNOPSIS
Following her mother's death, red-haired, slim MARY DEXTER leaves Omaha to take a job in the Nordex Aircraft plant in California. She shares an apartment with FRANK BOND, night club singer and dancer. Friendship develops between Mary and KEN GRANT, young mechanical engineer, also newly employed at Nordex.

YESTERDAY: Ken and Mary visit the night club at which Frank works.

CHAPTER FIVE

BOTH MARY and Frank slept late next day. When Mary opened her eyes, still heavy with sleep, and glanced at her wrist watch she was surprised to see that it was 1:30 o'clock. From the street below rose pleasant sounds of children playing, the sharp tang of salt air filled the room and Mary could hear the soothing roar of the Pacific. From the direction of the kitchenette Frank was humming her latest feature song and the pleasant aroma of cooking made Mary feel that it was a pretty good world after all.

"Breakfast ready?" Mary called. "What do you mean, breakfast? It's past 1:30 in the afternoon. If you insist that we name it, I would say 'Brunch' would be more appropriate," Frank said with a laugh.

Mary dressed hurriedly and was just putting on the final touch of lipstick as Frank brought in a platter of scrambled eggs, toast and orange marmalade. Just as they were finishing, Ken dropped in to drive Mary to work. He immediately started to renew the argument on the war when both girls pounced on him at the same time.

"We heard enough of that last night," Frank chided. "Okay," Ken said, smiling. "One thing I do know, and that is, never to argue with a woman, especially a bossy one like you or a red-head."

On the way to the plant newsboys surrounded the car at every traffic light. Screaming headlines told blatantly of the latest war news. Ken wanted to get a paper, but Mary told him to save it until later.

"I don't care if the headlines DO look worse," she declared. "I'm getting tired of being 'cautious' and 'on my guard' at work, and talking war all night and being bombed in my sleep. What I want is a nice old-fashioned picnic on a peaceful green hilltop."

"Tomorrow's Sunday," Ken said. "Now's the time to talk about it. Might take Burke along for Fran. He seems like a good guy. We could buy one of those ready-packed lunches."

"Buy nothing!" cried Mary. "Frank and I will roast a chicken tonight and make a cake and sandwiches and all those nice old-fashioned things that make you forget there really is a war."

"Sounds fair enough. You and Fran bring the food, and Burke and I will contribute our charming personalities. Or maybe I could scare up a mess of black ants to turn loose on our food so we could have the real atmosphere of a picnic. After all, what is a picnic without ants galloping all over everything. I remember a picnic we had back home. Somebody brought a custard pie and the ants were so bad that day everyone mistook it for raisins."

Mary laughed. "You idiot, you aren't increasing my appetite for this picnic one bit with your ant stories." As Mary and Ken rode along that white stretch of highway that led to the Nordex plant, gayly chatting and planning their picnic, neither of them realized that within a few hours the west coast was to be paralyzed by the uncertain fears of their first blackout. At nine-thirty the sirens shrieked for a total blackout.

Inside the plant, work went on as usual, but with the air charged with excitement and suspense. The windows had for weeks been painted black for an emergency like this, that most workers thought would never come. Stified whispering ran up and down the production line. Under the blue lights tenseness lined the faces of the workers. Some tried to pass it off lightly, to make a job of it, but deep down they all knew they were facing real danger for the first time. The Japs knew our coast line as well as we did, had air maps and photographs of every foot of it. Mary's mind went back swiftly to the paper she had signed the day she had come to work. She couldn't remember the exact wording now. It was a release of responsibility for the company in case a worker were killed while at his job. At the time it had seemed like a useless, silly thing. Just more red tape, she had thought, that was really meaningless. Now she was beginning to realize it wasn't silly at all—in fact, it was the most serious thing that had ever happened in her whole life. Strange, she thought, that she didn't want to run away. That she wanted desperately to stay right here even in the midst of danger and do her part. She'd show Bruce Martin that she wasn't a "spineless little red-head."

The girl at the desk next to Mary looked up from her typewriter with tears brimming in her eyes. In Mary's concern for her she momentarily forgot her own troubles. "What's the trouble?" Mary whispered softly.

"Do you think they will really drop bombs?" the girl asked, almost sobbing. "Tonight?"

The girl nodded. "Yes." "No! Didn't you hear the radio this afternoon?"

Mary hadn't heard anything really, but she knew she had to say something comforting or the girl would go all to pieces. "This isn't a real blackout. Just a test so people can get used to the idea."

The girl heaved a great sigh of relief and smiled thankfully at Mary.

Willie, the office boy with the well-scrubbed look, was thriving on the excitement. Every few minutes he would dart out of the office to take a look at the sky and then make a breathless report on

The girl heaved a great sigh of relief and smiled thankfully at Mary.

Willie, the office boy with the well-scrubbed look, was thriving on the excitement. Every few minutes he would dart out of the office to take a look at the sky and then make a breathless report on how black everything was and how the huge searchlights were combing the skies for enemy aircraft. He made too loud an announcement to one of the workers about his being an air-raid warden and drew a dark look of reproach from Connie.

At closing time, Mary found her hands trembling as she put on her coat. Workers laughed shakily as they found themselves whispering their "goodbyes."

Connie was aglow with a tense, passionate anxiety. "They won't bomb the plant," she kept repeating. There was a tone of reverence in her voice almost like she was repeating a prayer.

As the dark stream of workers moved out of the buildings tonight and crossed the plant grounds to the tunnel, they moved sluggishly. The usual carefree lightness of their steps was gone. Without a moon to relieve the pitch darkness, the mass moved in a slow, cautious shuffle. They stumbled into each other, into the corners of buildings. Quick, nervous laughter and kidding followed each accident, but not for long. Ears were strained for sounds of planes that might be enemy. Breaths were held and then let out in tense paroxysms. There was a spreading, uncontrollable excitement—a thrilling sense of being caught in the center of a vast game of fabulous possibilities. It was one of those things that you read about and yet never actually happen. Even now to Mary there seemed an unreality about it, like she was acting in a play.

At the tunnel entrance Mary hesitated and then remembered that Ken said he had a couple of hours of overtime tonight. She went on through the tunnel and to the bus stop. Cars were creeping by at a snail's pace, with no headlights burning. A man beside her expressed his opinions of the "stinking Japs" in eloquent terms. He struck a match and cupped his hands to light a cigarette. For an instant the match flared like a torch before Mary's face. It went out—and then suddenly she heard it—his voice, from the car stalled in the long line of traffic just in front of her.

"Hi, there, red-head! Want a lift?"

Mary moved forward. A car door swung open. An instant later she had stepped into the low-slung, gray monster beside Bruce Martin. (To Be Continued)

Goeller Family Gathers At Farewell

Children of Mrs. William A. Goeller of 634 South Court street and their families gathered Tuesday at her home for an informal dinner that served as a farewell for three of her sons, Andrew W. (Bill) Goeller, who returned that night to Baer Field, Ind., after a short furlough at his home on East Mound street; Donald Goeller, who left Wednesday for Fort Benjamin Harrison after a 14-day furlough following his induction in U. S. Army service, and Dr. Joseph Goeller of East Mound street, who recently received his commission as a lieutenant in the Army Medical Corps and who will leave October 15 for active service.

Those present for the dinner and for the evening of reminiscence were Dr. and Mrs. Joseph Goeller and two daughters, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Goeller and two daughters and Mr. and Mrs. Andrew W. Goeller, of Circleville; Mr. and Mrs. Forrest Short and two daughters of Jackson township and Mrs. Goeller and sons, Donald and Robert, of the home.

Westminster Bible Class

Westminster Bible class of the Presbyterian church has voted a $10 donation to the Pickaway County Community Chest. The class met Tuesday at the home of Mrs. G. G. Campbell, South Court street, where a small group enjoyed an informal Halloween party during the social hour.

Mrs. Charless Smith, president, was in the chair and Mrs. H. O. Pile conducted a splendid devotional service.

Plans were discussed for remembering the 13 boys of the church now in army service and it was decided to send Christmas cards. Mrs. Campbell was appointed to secure the address of any boy of the congregation who is overseas to whom a Christmas box could be sent from the class.

The Westminster Circle, a junior missionary group of the church, asked donations of "white elephants" for their Christmas missionary box.

Four contests furnished entertainment for class members.

Mrs. Campbell, Mrs. Pile and Mrs. S. M. Cryder of the hospitality committee served a Halloween lunch from an attractive table in the dining room. A colorful autumn arrangement of small pumpkins, corn, berries and seed pods centered the table and Halloween party appointments were used.

The next session will be at the home of Miss Mary Heffner, East Mound street, with Miss Abbe Mills Clarke and Mrs. Blanche Motschman as assisting hostesses.

Mrs. Marion's Class

Mrs. Marion's class of the Methodist church had a delightful meeting Tuesday in the Methodist church basement where the pleasant evening began with a fine cooperative dinner. Members and families were served at 6:30 p. m., 45 being present for the party.

The evening's program opened with a piano solo by Theresa Hill; Delores Hawkes and Evelyn Lutz played two trumpet and saxophone duets; piano solo, James Hill; vocal music, Mrs. Harold Defenbaugh and Mrs. Dudley Carpenter and interesting pictures by A. R. Steddom. Miss Ruth Esther Blum played piano accompaniments for the musical selections.

Mrs. John Magill, class president, was in charge of arrangements for the party.

The November committee includes Mrs. Roscoe Warren, Mrs. Herschel Hill, Mrs. Robert Bond, Mrs. Elmer Yeatts and Miss Peggy Parks.

Nebraska Grange

Nebraska grange held its regular meeting Tuesday in the grange hall, with Homer Reber, worthy master, presiding. It was announced that the first and second degrees would be conferred on a class of four candidates at the next session, October 20. A lecture hour program will be presented at this meeting which will begin promptly at 8:30 p. m., the regular time of meeting until further notice.

Philip Thomas, who recently returned from Ireland, will be speaker of the evening at the next session.

The literary program included group singing and a general quiz in charge of Miss Thelma Plum and three contests.

Luther League

Plans were made for a Halloween party and hayride, October 30, at 7:30 p. m., when members of the Luther league of Trinity Lutheran church gathered in the parish house Tuesday for the monthly social session. Don Wolf, vice president, opened the meeting and the Rev. G. L. Troutman read the scripture lesson. Miss Lois Engle presented the topic, "False Faces."

Child Conservation League

Mrs. Ned Griner was elected to active membership in The Child Conservation league Tuesday at the meeting of the group at the home of Mrs. Tom Renick, East Main street. Mrs. Hargy Heffner, president, conducted a short business session. Mrs. Theodore Huston, program chairman, presented Mrs. Karl Mason who read an interesting paper on "What! No Allergy in Your Family?"

Mrs. Mason in opening her talk said "An allergic condition is due to three allergens or provoking substances, animal, vegetable or mineral. The old quotation, 'One Man's Meat is Another's Poison,' expresses definitely what we know by a new name."

"The sufferers of asthma, hay fever, and Migraine headaches may take a series of control tests which definitely establish the cause. Some unusual substances, garments or fish glue may prove to be the irritant. Then a series of cure shots follow."

"Allergies are a fascinating subject and one in which it behooves all mothers to study. In feeding our family good wholesome food and possessing a little knowledge on the subject, we may combat these irritating conditions."

There will be a guest speaker at the next meeting, October 20.

Royal Neighbors

Royal Neighbors will meet Thursday at 7:30 p. m. at the home of Mrs. Robert Stebelton, East Ohio street.

Goeller Family Gathers At Farewell

Children of Mrs. William A. Goeller of 634 South Court street and their families gathered Tuesday at her home for an informal dinner that served as a farewell for three of her sons, Andrew W. (Bill) Goeller, who returned that night to Baer Field, Ind., after a short furlough at his home on East Mound street; Donald Goeller, who left Wednesday for Fort Benjamin Harrison after a 14-day furlough following his induction in U. S. Army service, and Dr. Joseph Goeller of East Mound street, who recently received his commission as a lieutenant in the Army Medical Corps and who will leave October 15 for active service.

Those present for the dinner and for the evening of reminiscing were Dr. and Mrs. Joseph Goeller and two daughters, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Goeller and two daughters and Mr. and Mrs. Andrew W. Goeller, of Circleville; Mr. and Mrs. Forrest Short and two daughters of Jackson township and Mrs. Goeller and sons, Donald and Robert, of the home.

Westminster Bible Class
Westminster Bible class of the Presbyterian church has voted a $10 donation to the Pickaway County Community Chest. The class met Tuesday at the home of Mrs. G. G. Campbell, South Court street, where a small group enjoyed an informal Halloween party during the social hour.

Mrs. Charles Smith, president, was in the chair and Mrs. H. O. Pile conducted a splendid devotional service.

Plans were discussed for remembering the 13 boys of the church now in army service and it was decided to send Christmas cards. Mrs. Campbell was appointed to secure the address of any boy of the congregation who is overseas to whom a Christmas box could be sent from the class.

The Westminster Circle, a junior missionary group of the church, asked donations of "white elephants" for their Christmas missionary box.

Four contests furnished entertainment for class members.

Mrs. Campbell, Mrs. Pile and Mrs. S. M. Cryder of the hospitality committee served a Halloween lunch from an attractive table in the dining room. A colorful autumn arrangement of small pumpkins, corn, berries and seed pods centered the table and Halloween party appointments were used.

The next session will be at the home of Miss Mary Heffner, East Mound street, with Miss Abbe Mills Clarke and Mrs. Blanche Motesman as assisting hostesses.

Mrs. Marion's Class
Mrs. Marion's class of the Methodist church had a delightful meeting Tuesday in the Methodist church basement where the pleasant evening began with a fine cooperative dinner. Members and families were served at 6:30 p. m., 45 being present for the party.

The evening's program opened with a piano solo by Theresa Hill; Delores Hawkes and Evelyn Lutz played two trumpet and saxophone duets; piano solo, James Hill; vocal music, Mrs. Harold Defenbaugh and Mrs. Dudley Carpenter and interesting pictures by A. R. Steddon. Miss Ruth Esther Blum played piano accompaniments for the musical selections.

Mrs. John Magill, class president, was in charge of arrangements for the party.

The November committee includes Mrs. Roscoe Warren, Mrs. Herschel Hill, Mrs. Robert Bond, Mrs. Elmer Yeatts and Miss Peggy Parks.

Nebraska Grange
Nebraska grange held its regular meeting Tuesday in the grange hall, with Homer Reber, worthy master, presiding. It was announced that the first and second degrees would be conferred on a class of four candidates at the next session, October 20. A lecture hour program will be presented at this meeting which will begin promptly at 8:30 p. m., the regular time of meeting until further notice.

Philip Thomas, who recently returned from Ireland, will be speaker of the evening at the next session.

The literary program included group singing and a general quiz in charge of Miss Thelma Plum and three contests.

Luther League
Plans were made for a Halloween party and hayride, October 30, at 7:30 p. m., when members of the Luther league of Trinity Lutheran church gathered in the parish house Tuesday for the monthly social session. Don Wolf, vice president, opened the meeting and the Rev. G. L. Troutman read the scripture lesson. Miss Lois Engle presented the topic, "False Faces."

The group will meet at the parish house to leave for the hayride which will be concluded with a wiener roast at the home of Mrs. Charles Walters. Mrs. Walters, chairman, Miss Mary Wolford and Ned Dresbach comprise the committee for games. Food and transportation will be headed by James Sensenbrenner with Miss Ruth Melvin, Miss Sara Jane Cook and Leo Morgan as co-helpers.

Scio-to-Hocking Valley league meeting was announced for Sunday, October 25, at 3 p. m., at Marcy.

Mrs. Gladden Troutman read the minutes and called the roll. The Rev. G. L. Troutman held a contest as a diversion for the evening.

Lunch was served by Mrs. Willard Dudleson, chairman, the Misses Betty Barnes, Mabel Cline, Margie Neff, Margaret Adkins, Lois Engle, Edward Ebert Jr., Don Wolf and Paul Siegwald. Approximately 40 were present for the evening.

Birthday Dinner
Mr. and Mrs. Frank Moats, Circleville Route 4, were hosts at dinner Sunday, the affair honoring Mrs. Moats' father, H. R. James, Jackson township, on his birthday anniversary.

Covers were placed for Mr. and Mrs. James; Mrs. Zula Van Fossen, a sister of Mr. James, and Mrs. Austin Hurley and two children.

Bible Class
Young Ladies' Bible class of the Stoutsville Heidelberg Reformed church met Tuesday at the home of Mrs. W. H. Crites with 17 members present. The scripture lesson was read by Mrs. Frank LeRoy and Miss Elsie Adams offered prayer.

The program included remarks by Mrs. Simon Rife on a story in the Readers' Digest and on a tall story by Lowell Thomas. Mrs. Ray Rife was heard in a reading, "A Soldier's Letter to his Girl Friend."

Contests were in charge of Mrs. Roy Harden, Mrs. Ted Huston and Mrs. Simon Stout.

Mrs. Gerald Crites presented several interesting cooking hints and the group participated in group singing.

Logan Elm Grange
Fifty subordinate and juvenile grangers attended inspection of Logan Elm grange Tuesday in the Pickaway school auditorium. During the opening business session in charge of Frank Graves, worthy master, $25 was voted to the Pickaway County Community Chest. All officers were in their chairs.

Two new members, Mr. and Mrs. John Gehres of Mayfield, Ohio, were received by demits. Plans were made for a "come as you work" party at the next session, October 20.

The program arranged by Mrs. Turney Pontius, lecturer, opened with a piano duet by Mrs. Carl Burger and Mrs. Leon Van Vleet; talks on "Ohio," Bobby Wilson and Eileen Martens; vocal solos, Mrs. C. A. Dresbach and Mrs. John Miller; talk, "Agriculture," G. D. Bradley; short skit, "Lost on the Road to Singing School," Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Maxson, and closing piano duet, Mrs. Miller and daughter, Marilyn.

Child Conservation League
Mrs. Ned Griner was elected to active membership in The Child Conservation league Tuesday at the meeting of the group at the home of Mrs. Tom Renick, East Main street. Mrs. Hargy Heffner, president, conducted a short business session. Mrs. Theodore Huston, program chairman, presented Mrs. Karl Mason who read an interesting paper on "What! No Allergy in Your Family?"

Mrs. Mason in opening her talk said "An allergic condition is due to three allergens or provoking substances, animal, vegetable or mineral. The old quotation, 'One Man's Meat is Another's Poison,' expresses definitely what we know by a new name.

"The sufferers of asthma, hay fever, and Migraine headaches may take a series of control tests which definitely establish the cause. Some unusual substances, garments or fish glue may prove to be the irritant. Then a series of cure shots follow.

"Allergies are a fascinating subject and one in which it behooves all mothers to study. In feeding our family good wholesome food and possessing a little knowledge on the subject, we may combat these irritating conditions."

There will be a guest speaker at the next meeting, October 20.

Royal Neighbors
Royal Neighbors will meet Thursday at 7:30 p. m. at the home of Mrs. Robert Stebelton, East Ohio street.

Friendship Circle
Mrs. Lydia Riffel, East Main street, will entertain the Friendship Circle Friday at 2 p. m. at her home.

Circle 4
Circle 4 of the W.S.C.S. of the Methodist church met Tuesday at the home of Mrs. W. L. Sprouse, East Main street. After a piano solo by Mrs. Sprouse, readings were presented by Mrs. Edwin Bach, Mrs. Glenn Hines, Mrs. Raymond Rader, Mrs. Harold Pontius and Mrs. Clyde Cook; trombone solo, Mrs. Malcolm Parrett; Mrs. C. F. Abernethy, talk on the life of her son-in-law, the Rev. Charles Reeder, who recently returned from China where he had been interned by the Japs for several months; group singing of songs by Stephen Foster.

Top Intersectional Tilt Booked at Buck Field

COLUMBUS, Oct. 7 — The nation's top intersectional grid clash this week will pit Coach Paul Brown's undefeated Buckeyes against Southern California's Trojans in Ohio stadium, Saturday.

It will be the fourth meeting of these colorful rivals and the first time since 1938 that Southern California has played here. The invading Trojans will be keyed to win over the Bucks for several reasons.

High on their list is revenge for the 33-0 drubbing Ohio State handed them on the west coast last year — a game S. C.'s scouts had hoped as "one against a high school coach and high school team."

Then there's the important matter of maintaining its victory edge over Ohio State and also getting in the "win" column for the first time this season. The Trojans have won two of the three games played with Ohio State. In 1937, they turned the trick by a single point, 13-12; and in 1938, at Columbus, the Trojans won, 14-7.

Trojan team play has been improving rapidly since the opening loss to Tulane two weeks ago. The Trojans last Saturday fought a favored Washington State eleven to a scoreless deadlock.

Coach Brown has ordered full-speed practice sessions each day this week declaring "there's no time to rest on our laurels."

Meanwhile statistics showed that the Buckeyes' four leading

RELIEF UNITS TO DRAW MILLION FROM BASEBALL

NEW YORK, Oct. 7—The United Service Organizations, Army and Navy Relief and its own Ball and Bat Fund have benefited to the tune of more than $1,000,000 from major league baseball during the 1942 season.

Largest money maker for the relief organizations was the world's series which rang the bell for the USO for a cool $393,000. Of this, $100,000 represented what had been paid for the radio broadcasting rights. The balance was a share in the third and fourth games.

Other games which swelled substantially the funds of the relief groups are: the all-star game at the Polo Grounds which contributed about $90,000; the Washington Senators-Yankee game on August 23 and the Giants-Dodgers twilight game in New York, each of which netted $75,000 for the service outfits and the New York-Brooklyn game at Ebbets field which contributed $60,000.

WHITE SOX CHAMPIONS AGAIN IN WINDY CITY

CHICAGO, Oct. 7—Players of the Chicago White Sox and Cubs baseball teams headed for their Winter homes today with the Sox city champions for the eighth successive time.

The inevitable happened last night at Comiskey park where Johnny Humphries pitched the Sox to a 4 to 1 victory, their fourth win in the six games played in the annual city series.

Sarge Swenke, trainer of the Sox, wouldn't commit himself definitely but did say he "thought there was a very fine chance" of Alas meeting Whirly again. "This time we'll beat him," he added.

CARDINAL FANS GIVE TEAM BIG WELCOME HOME

Hope We Can Repeat, Billy Southworth Tells Folk Cheering Champions

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 7—This city returned today to some semblance of its normal sedate decorum following the rip-roaring reception it gave the St. Louis Cardinals on their return as world champions from their series with the New York Yankees.

The formal part of the celebration was staged at Union station where the Red Birds arrived late yesterday with Manager Billy Southworth, but impromptu demonstrations broke out at various parts of the downtown section afterward and lasted until far into the night.

The crowd at the station, which numbered close to 15,000, was the biggest since the return of St. Louis' own 138th infantry in 1919 following the World War, police said.

Gov. Forrest C. Donnell and Mayor William Dee Becker of St. Louis were among the notables on hand to greet the great team that had vanquished the formidable Yankees. Becker read a telegram of congratulations from Mayor Fiorello LaGuardia of New York.

Manager Southworth, who introduced his players to the thousands at the station, told the crowd: "We just proved in New York we couldn't let our fans down—and we won without a squawk. I only hope we can win in the 1943 series."

Police saved Southworth, Whitey Kurowski, who banged out the winning home in the last game, and Johnny Beazley, who pitched the Cards to two victories, from a virtual mobbing from enthusiastic fans.

"I'd rather face the Yanks than this crowd," laughed Beazley. Beazley, who will join the Marines as soon as he returns to his home in Tennessee, admitted he really was scared when the Yanks filled the bases with only one gone in the final game.

"It may not have looked as if I was worried," he said, "but I'll tell you now I was plenty scared."

INDIANA SEES BUCKS

BLOOMINGTON, Ind., Oct. 7—Defensive strategy against Nebraska plays was stressed by Coach Bo McMillin today as he sent his Indiana Hoosiers through a long drill on tackling, blocking and pass defense. The Hoosiers viewed movies of the Ohio State game yesterday.

Ben Jones said yesterday "as far as I know my coil is going to run Saturday. He's going to have to carry 130 pounds and that's a lot of weight but he's so good right now I think he can do it and still beat Alas over again."

Sarge Swenke, trainer of the Sox, wouldn't commit himself definitely but did say he "thought there was a very fine chance" of Alas meeting Whirly again. "This time we'll beat him," he added.

RESERVE BACKS BEING DRILLED AT MINNESOTA

MINNEAPOLIS, Oct. 7—Coach George Hauser today resumed his task of building up a reserve backfield for Minnesota with the announcement that Bill Garnaas, star quarterback, and Herman Frickey, right half, were doubtful starters Saturday against Illinois. Garnaas and Frickey failed to respond to treatment for their injuries.

PURDUE WATCHES PLAYS USED AT NORTHWESTERN

LAFAYETTE, Ind., Oct. 7—Purdue feared Northwestern's attack today after yesterday's drill in which the freshmen, demonstrating the Wildcat offense, gave the Boilermakers variety all it could handle. Otto Hurrell, sophomore, was working out at center, replacing Alex Leugo, who injured his knee in the Vanderbilt game.

Top Intersectional Tilt Booked at Buck Field

COLUMBUS, Oct. 7—The nation's top intersectional grid clash this week will pit Coach Paul Brown's undefeated Buckeyes against Southern California's Trojans in Ohio stadium, Saturday.

It will be the fourth meeting of these colorful rivals and the first time since 1938 that Southern California has played here. The invading Trojans will be keyed to win over the Bucks for several reasons.

High on their list is revenge for the 33-0 drubbing Ohio State handed them on the west coast last year — a game S. C.'s scouts had doped as "one against a high school coach and high school team."

Then there's the important matter of maintaining its victory edge over Ohio State and also getting in the "win" column for the first time this season. The Trojans have won two of the three games played with Ohio State. In 1937, they turned the trick by a single point, 13-12; and in 1938, at Columbus, the Trojans won, 14-7.

Trojan team play has been improving rapidly since the opening loss to Tulane two weeks ago. The Trojans last Saturday fought a favored Washington State eleven to a scoreless deadlock.

Coach Brown has ordered full-speed practice sessions each day this week declaring "there's no time to rest on our laurels." Meanwhile statistics showed that the Buckeyes' four leading

RELIEF UNITS TO DRAW MILLION FROM BASEBALL

NEW YORK, Oct. 7—The United Service Organizations, Army and Navy Relief and its own Ball and Bat Fund have benefited to the tune of more than $1,000,000 from major league baseball during the 1942 season.

Largest money maker for the relief organizations was the world's series which rang the bell for the $800 for a cool $393,000. Of this, $100,000 represented what had been paid for the radio broadcasting rights. The balance was a share in the third and fourth games.

Other games which swelled substantially the funds of the relief groups are: the all-star game at the Polo Grounds which contributed about $90,000; the Washington Senators-Yankee game on August 23 and the Giants-Dodgers twilight game in New York, each of which netted $75,000 for the service outfits and the New York-Brooklyn game at Ebbets field which contributed $60,000.

WHITE SOX CHAMPIONS AGAIN IN WINDY CITY

CHICAGO, Oct. 7—Players of the Chicago White Sox and Cubs baseball teams headed for their Winter homes today with the Sox city champions for the eighth successive time.

The inevitable happened last night at Comiskey park where Johnny Humphries pitched the Sox to a 4 to 1 victory, their fourth win in the six games played in the annual city series.

CARDINAL FANS GIVE TEAM BIG WELCOME HOME

Hope We Can Repeat, Billy Southworth Tells Folk Cheering Champions

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 7—This city returned today to some semblance of its normal sedate decorum following the rip-roaring reception it gave the St. Louis Cardinals on their return as world champions from their series with the New York Yankees.

The formal part of the celebration was staged at Union station where the Red Birds arrived late yesterday with Manager Billy Southworth, but impromptu demonstrations broke out at various parts of the downtown section afterward and lasted until far into the night.

The crowd at the station, which numbered close to 15,000, was the biggest since the return of St. Louis' own 138th infantry in 1919 following the World War, police said.

Gov. Forrest C. Donnell and Mayor William De Becker of St. Louis were among the notables on hand to greet the great team that had vanquished the formidable Yankees. Becker read a telegram of congratulations from Mayor Fiorello LaGuardia of New York.

Manager Southworth, who introduced his players to the thousands at the station, told the crowd: "We just proved in New York we couldn't let our fans down—and we won without a squawk. I only hope we can win in the 1943 series."

Police saved Southworth, Whitey Kurowski, who banged out the winning home in the last game, and Johnny Beazley, who pitched the Cards to two victories, from a virtual mobbing by enthusiastic fans.

"I'd rather face the Yanks than this crowd," laughed Beazley. Beazley, who will join the Marines as soon as he returns to his home in Tennessee, admitted he really was scared when the Yanks filled the bases with only one gone in the final game. "It may not have looked as if I was worried," he said, "but I'll tell you now I was plenty scared."

TIGER RESERVE SQUAD TO MEET CLARKSBURG '11'

Coach Roy M. Black's Circleville high reserves are in for a busy afternoon Friday when Clarksburg high school varsity invades the local field. The Tiger mentor will give his varsity a rest after three weeks of campaigning in which victories have been scored over Chillicothe Central Catholic, Hillsboro and Roseville.

Clarksburg has a good team, being capable of holding the Chillicothe Irish to a one touchdown deadlock. The team is paced by brilliant Frank Mace, who plays fullback. He smashes the line, runs the ends, does the passing and plays a bang-up defensive game. His brother, Fred, plays an end. The remainder of the Ross county team is capable of playing good football.

The Tiger mentor has not indicated what boys will be on the Red and Black eleven which starts against the Clarksburg lads.

The game is scheduled at 4:15.

HARRIDGE LAUDS CARDS

CHICAGO, Oct. 7—Will Harridge, American league president, was back home in Chicago today, singing the praises of the new world champion St. Louis Cardinals of the National league. "Those Cardinals are a fine bunch of boys," Harridge said. "What impressed me most was the way they went about their work. Nothing dismayed them. If there had been anything in the story that other opponents had stood in awe of the Yankees, certainly the Cardinals did not. In this series the Yankees just weren't good enough for them, and that's the way it was."

No Tires Available for Violators of 35 Mile Speed Limit

RATION BOARD AUTHORIZED TO REJECT PLEAS

Legal Division Of OPA Sends Copy Of Ruling To All Distributing Agencies

MAY ALSO APPLY TO GAS

Penalty For Abusing Driving Left To Discretion Of Local Organizations

Pickaway county rationing board was informed Wednesday that the legal division of the OPA has ruled that local war price and rationing boards can legally deny new tires, grade 2 tires and recaps to applicants otherwise eligible, but who have been proven to have driven their cars faster than 35 miles an hour. The same ruling is expected to apply to gasoline when rationing of motor fuel starts.

The decision was taken by the local board to indicate that the OPA is putting teeth into its recent decree that persons exceeding the suggested speed limit be penalized. State highway patrol has joined in the OPA's drive to conserve tires and gasoline and has already started to submit names of motorists who drive too fast.

Burkett L. Williams, regional OPA administrator, sent a copy of the decision to the Pickaway county board. At the same time at his direction the regional office in Cleveland was preparing to send to all local boards in the region an office poster: "If you drive over 35 no tires here."

The legal opinion held that withholding tires for abusive driving is a matter of local board discretion. He held that emergency speeding in the transport of injured persons to hospitals for example might well be deemed not an abuse of tires.

"Since the issuance of the Bureau report and in the light of the facts contained therein," OPA declared, "with respect to the effect of fast driving on longevity of tires, depending on speed, with which they are driven, it appears that high speed driving constitutes without any doubt an abuse of tires."

For several weeks the regional and state OPA offices have had a working arrangement with the state highway patrol where speeders are warned and a report made to OPA, which is filed with the local rationing board of the owners. In some instances already, boards throughout Ohio have refused tires to eligible users thus warned.

Mayor Ben H. Gordon has pledged support of his office to the OPA and has instructed police officials to make reports on speeders to the local board.

The movement against tire wastage is spreading throughout the country.

Rationers expect soon to learn that the "too much speed-no tires" ruling may be expanded to include "too much speed-no gasoline rationing cards."

FARM MACHINES UNDER $25 FREE FROM RATIONING

John G. Boggs, chairman of the Pickaway county farm machinery rationing board, said Wednesday that the OPA has issued a ruling to his office which declares that farm machinery costing $25 or less is exempt from rationing restrictions.

"Any farmer wishing to buy equipment under this price may do so, if it is available, without consulting the rationing board," he said.

While the farm machinery supply is short, Mr. Boggs said the rationing unit has about 20 applications on hand now for consideration this week. Various equipment is needed, according to the applications for certificates permitting purchase.

SCHOOL BOARD MEETS

Dallas Tracy, 153 East Water street, was employed Tuesday night by Circleville board of education as custodian of Corwin street school. He will succeed Lawrence Stonerock who has resigned to accept employment in Columbus.

SCRAP PILES ON INCREASE AT RURAL SCHOOLS

Schools of Pickaway county are hard at work in their effort to boost the district's "Victory Stockpile" to a great height. George D. McDowell, county superintendent, reported Wednesday that every school has swung into action, and that scrap piles have started to form at all buildings.

Youngsters of several schools have been searching for larger supplies of scrap possibly forgotten in out-of-the-way places.

Each rural school is established as a scrap depot, and all persons in the various communities are asked to take their scrap to the building closest them. The schools will sell the scrap to junk dealers and all profit will go into various funds set up by the schools.

Circleville's big pile which holds approximately 200 tons of metal of all sorts still stands at City Hall, but officials are preparing to have it removed to junk yards the latter part of the week.

Residents of the city are being urged to continue to haul scrap to the pile, or to call 53 for a city service department truck if the scrap is very heavy.

BIRD DOG CLUB HOLDS ANNUAL TRIAL SUNDAY

Pickaway County Bird Dog club will hold its annual field trial Sunday, October 25, two miles south of Circleville on the Phillips farm.

The trial will consist of all-age derby and puppy stakes. All entries must be made by October 19 with entry blanks available from W. L. Stambaugh, 355 East Ohio street.

Trophies donated by Circleville merchants will be awarded to the winners in each of the three stakes.

The WASHINGTON MERRY-GO-ROUND

By DREW PEARSON

a dollar should read: 'Return to New York.'

TOUGH TROOPERS

Those who accompanied the President when he reviewed military maneuvers in the far West, reported that three things stood out which should make the American Army the peer if not superior to any in the world.

(1) The marvelous physical fitness of the troops; (2) their high-spirited morale and boundless enthusiasm; (3) their mental alertness and daring.

Regarding the first, Army doctors have been astounded at the record-breaking low sickness rate, despite the rigor of the training schedule and field conditions. Although living in the open under blazing skies with bivouacs shifting almost daily, with tentage, blankets and other personal equipment limited wholly to what can be carried in packs, the health of the men is superb. Not only have there been no epidemics of any kind, but the daily "sick report" has practically disappeared in many units.

The hardness of the troops is phenomenal. After the invasion of Poland, U. S. correspondents wrote awed stories about the spectacular marching ability of the German soldier; of hiking 70 miles in 24 hours and then going immediately into battle. That is an outstanding performance, but it's nothing unusual in the maneuvers which the President witnessed.

In several problems, outfits have chalked up even better records; while 30 and 40 mile operational marches are every day occurrences. One regiment hiked 35 miles across swamp land in a total blackout and nearly the same distance the next day under a broiling sun and intermittent downpours to surprise the "enemy" and punch a hole through a soft spot in his lines.

HIGH MORALE

The morale of the troops is as exuberant as their physical well-being. One striking evidence of this is the pride they take in their personal cleanliness, and the smartness of their attire and equipment. It is a common sight to see men all over a "battle" area in woods and under bridges, shaving, brushing their teeth and washing up, just before dawn.

After "battle," no matter how weary they are, the first thing the troops do is to "police up" their arms and equipment. And they do it with a will and dash.

Only troops of high morale, troops who have pride in themselves and the cause they are serving, will stand up under grueling tests such as part of those which the President witnessed. It takes more than merely wearing a uniform to stand up under tough maneuvers of this kind. You've got to have it inside you.

MERRY-GO-ROUND

The Army will not permit the Justice Department to make any mention of crimes involving the Army. If a civilian is shot by a soldier, or vice-versa, Justice can say absolutely nothing. Even when Gen. Buckner in Alaska swears out a mandamus ordering Secretary Ickes to show cause why he should not get a hunting license to shoot moose, and it is all a matter of court record, the Justice Department must keep its lips sealed. . . . After six months, the Justice Department usually asks if it can release the information, and the Army replies, "It's old news, so let's forget it." . . . Bill Hassett, White House assistant press secretary, telephones cabinet officers and high administration officials whenever anything appears in the papers showing they are at loggerheads. Bill's idea is to keep up the appearance of peace inside the official family. . . . War has not removed the peacetime problems of the Interstate Commerce Commission, which is today debating the reduction of the freight rate on candy from Hershey, Pa., to Buffalo. . . . Fuel situation in Ireland is so serious that Dublin has service on cooking and lighting gas only 5 1/2 hours a day. Smaller towns will be without gas entirely this Winter.

We Fit You Correctly

Food will help to lick the Axis. Use more milk and milk products to build strong bodies, spirits and minds. Butter, Eggs, Ice Cream and Cheese from Pickaway Dairy are the best ever.

Farmers should produce more milk. It will be needed. They should keep it clean and pure. Market all milk Co-operatively too. It means less expense and greater profit to you.

Co-operatives serve America efficiently because they work together in all they do. An individual can't do much but when several farmers join together it's a happy time for Uncle Sam.

Hurry to the Phone. Call your local Co-operative and ask them to stop for your milk when they come by. Save tires and Gasoline—let the Pickaway Dairy Co-op. Truck do the job. You'll be helping Uncle Sam.

No Tires Available for Violators of 35 Mile Speed Limit

RATION BOARD AUTHORIZED TO REJECT PLEAS

Legal Division Of OPA Sends Copy Of Ruling To All Distributing Agencies

MAY ALSO APPLY TO GAS

Penalty For Abusing Driving Left To Discretion Of Local Organizations

Pickaway county rationing board was informed Wednesday that the legal division of the OPA has ruled that local war price and rationing boards can legally deny new tires, grade 2 tires and recaps to applicants otherwise eligible, but who have been proven to have driven their cars faster than 35 miles an hour. The same ruling is expected to apply to gasoline when rationing of motor fuel starts.

The decision was taken by the local board to indicate that the OPA is putting teeth into its recent decree that persons exceeding the suggested speed limit be penalized. State highway patrol has joined in the OPA's drive to conserve tires and gasoline and has already started to submit names of motorists who drive too fast.

Burket L. Williams, regional OPA administrator, sent a copy of the decision to the Pickaway county board. At the same time at his direction the regional office in Cleveland was preparing to send to all local boards in the region an office poster: "If you drive over 35 no tires here."

The legal opinion held that withholding tires for abusive driving is a matter of local board discretion. He held that emergency speeding in the transport of injured persons to hospitals for example might well be deemed not an abuse of tires.

"Since the issuance of the Bureau report and in the light of the facts contained therein," OPA declared, "with respect to the effect of fast driving on longevity of tires, depending on speed with which they are driven, it appears that high speed driving constitutes without any doubt an abuse of tires."

For several weeks the regional and state OPA offices have had a working arrangement with the state highway patrol where speeders are warned and a report made to OPA, which is filed with the local rationing board of the owners. In some instances already, boards throughout Ohio have refused tires to eligible users thus warned.

Mayor Ben H. Gordon has pledged support of his office to the OPA and has instructed police officials to make reports on speeders to the local board.

The movement against tire wastage is spreading throughout the country. Rationers expect soon to learn that the "too much speed-no tires" ruling may be expanded to include "too much speed-no gasoline rationing cards."

FARM MACHINES UNDER $25 FREE FROM RATIONING

John G. Boggs, chairman of the Pickaway county farm machinery rationing board, said Wednesday that the OPA has issued a ruling to his office which declares that farm machinery costing $25 or less is exempt from rationing restrictions.

"Any farmer wishing to buy equipment under this price may do so, if it is available, without consulting the rationing board," he said.

While the farm machinery supply is short, Mr. Boggs said the rationing unit has about 20 applications on hand now for consideration this week. Various equipment is needed, according to the applications for certificates permitting purchase.

SCHOOL BOARD MEETS

Dallas Tracy, 153 East Water street, was employed Tuesday night by Circleville board of education as custodian of Corwin street school. He will succeed Lawrence Stonerock who has resigned to accept employment in Columbus.

SCRAP PILES ON INCREASE AT RURAL SCHOOLS

Schools of Pickaway county are hard at work in their effort to boost the district's "Victory Stockpile" to a great height. George D. McDowell, county superintendent, reported Wednesday that every school has swung into action, and that scrap piles have started to form at all buildings.

Youngsters of several schools have been searching for larger supplies of scrap possibly forgotten in out-of-the-way places.

Each rural school is established as a scrap depot, and all persons in the various communities are asked to take their scrap to the building closest them. The schools will sell the scrap to junk dealers and all profit will go into various funds set up by the schools.

Circleville's big pile which holds approximately 200 tons of metal of all sorts still stands at City Hall, but officials are preparing to have it removed to junk yards the latter part of the week.

Residents of the city are being urged to continue to haul scrap to the pile, or to call 53 for a city service department truck if the scrap is very heavy.

BIRD DOG CLUB HOLDS ANNUAL TRIAL SUNDAY

Pickaway County Bird Dog club will hold its annual field trial Sunday, October 25, two miles south of Circleville on the Phillips farm.

The trial will consist of all-age derby and puppy stakes. All entries must be made by October 19 with entry blanks available from W. L. Stambaugh, 355 East Ohio street.

Trophies donated by Circleville merchants will be awarded to the winners in each of the three stakes.

The liver should pour 2 pints of bile juice into your bowels every day. If this bile is not flowing freely, your food may not digest. It may just decay in the bowels. Then gas builds up your stomach. You get constipated. You feel sour, sick and the world looks punk.

It takes those good, old Carter's Little Liver Pills to get these 2 pints of bile flowing freely to make you feel "up and up." Get a package today. Take as directed. Effective in making bile flow freely. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills. 10c and 25c.

The WASHINGTON MERRY-GO-ROUND

BY DREW PEARSON

a dollar should read: 'Return to New York.'

TOUGH TROOPERS

Those who accompanied the President when he reviewed military maneuvers in the far West, reported that three things stood out which should make the American Army the peer if not superior to any in the world.

(1) The marvelous physical fitness of the troops; (2) their high-spirited morale and boundless enthusiasm; (3) their mental alertness and daring.

Regarding the first, Army doctors have been astounded at the record-breaking low sickness rate, despite the rigor of the training schedule and field conditions. Although living in the open under blazing skies with bivouacs shifting almost daily, with tentage, blankets and other personal equipment limited wholly to what can be carried in packs, the health of the men is superb. Not only have there been no epidemics of any kind, but the daily "sick report" has practically disappeared in many units.

The hardness of the troops is phenomenal. After the invasion of Poland, U. S. correspondents wrote about stories about the spectacular marching ability of the German soldier; of hiking 70 miles in 24 hours and then going immediately into battle. That is an outstanding performance, but it's nothing unusual in the maneuvers which the President witnessed.

In several problems, outfits have chalked up even better records; while 30 and 40 mile operational marches are every day occurrences. One regiment hiked 35 miles across swamp land in a total blackout and nearly the same distance the next day under a broiling sun and intermittent downpours to surprise the "enemy" and punch a hole through a soft spot in his lines.

HIGH MORALE

The morale of the troops is as exuberant as their physical well-being. One striking evidence of this is the pride they take in their personal cleanliness, and the smartness of their attire and equipment. It is a common sight to see men all over a "battle" area in woods and under bridges, shaving, brushing their teeth and washing up, just before dawn.

After "battle," no matter how weary they are, the first thing the troops do is to "police up" their arms and equipment. And they do it with a will and dash.

Only troops of high morale, troops who have pride in themselves and the cause they are serving, will stand up under grueling tests such as part of those which the President witnessed. It takes more than merely wearing a uniform to stand up under tough maneuvers of this kind. You've got to have it inside you.

MERRY-GO-ROUND

The Army will not permit the Justice Department to make any mention of crimes involving the Army. If a civilian is shot by a soldier, or vice-versa, Justice can say absolutely nothing. Even when Gen. Buckner in Alaska swears out a mandamus ordering Secretary Ickes to show cause why he should not get a hunting license to shoot moose, and it is all a matter of court record, the Justice Department must keep its lips sealed. . . . After six months, the Justice Department usually asks if it can release the information, and the Army replies, "It's old news, so let's forget it." . . . Bill Hassett, White House assistant press secretary, telephones cabinet officers and high administration officials whenever anything appears in the papers showing they are at loggerheads. Bill's idea is to keep up the appearance of peace inside the official family. . . . War has not removed the peacetime problems of the Interstate Commerce Commission, which is today debating the reduction of the freight rate on candy from Hershey, Pa., to Buffalo. . . . Fuel situation in Ireland is so serious that Dublin has service on cooking and lighting gas only 5 1/2 hours a day. Smaller towns will be without gas entirely this winter.
